Donated Land Deeded to Boys Club

100 Persons Attend Fund Drive Fete

Approximately 100 persons attended the Sedalia Boys' Club building fund kickoff dinner at the Gold Cafeteria Tuesday night.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the deed for approximately eight acres of land on which the facilities are to be constructed. The deed was presented by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thompson and daughter, Sylvia, to John Brown, president, and Jimmy Glenn, Darrell Olsen and Henry Lamm, trustees. Other trustees not present were: W. D. Hill, Bob Gardner and Jim Menefee.

Principal speaker for the evening was the Rev. D. Warren Neal, Arlington, Tex., former Sedalian and pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church. He was introduced by Robert Parkhurst.

Neal told those in attendance the Boys' Club prepares boys for the responsibilities of tomorrow. Boys' Clubs have been training leaders since 1860, and teach youth to accept responsibility.

"The Boys' Club director is the boys's best friend," Neal emphasized. The director provides counselling services and a person to whom the boys can turn for advice and guidance.

Neal set forth characteristics of Boys' Clubs: 1. The Boys' Club is for boys, all boys. It is something of their very own and gives them a sense of belonging. 2. A boy needs no proof of good character to be accepted for membership in the club. It is the job of the club to mold the boy to be the best possible person he can be. 3. Anyone can afford to belong to a Boys' Club. The club is non-sectarian and has an open-door policy toward all boys.

"A boy is a real measure of the nation's wealth. A nation is built on individuals who work and share together regardless of the cost. The Boys' Club is an enterprise in which we can all unite. It is your opportunity to invest in the future of your town, state and nation — our world," Rev. Neal concluded.

Also introduced was Eugene Sullivan, assistant regional director of the Boys' Clubs of America. Sullivan gave a brief history of the development of Boys' Clubs and explained that

Endangers Western World

Warning to Allies On DeGaulle Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson warned the Atlantic Allies today that President Charles de Gaulle's efforts to reform their alliance could imperil the security of France and endanger the safety of the Western world.

While he expressed confidence that the United States and 13 allies will stick together to preserve NATO, without France if necessary, Johnson said:

"If our collective effort should falter —and our common determination be eroded — the foundations of the alliance's present stability would be shaken."

Johnson never mentioned De Gaulle by name in his first public response by him since the French president served notice three weeks ago that he intends to pull his military forces out of NATO, oust the NATO military headquarters from France and recover control of U.S. and Allied NATO bases on French territory.

Johnson spoke at the State Department to an audience of Foreign Service officers. Twenty-four hours earlier he had sent a personal message to De Gaulle, responding to an earlier letter from De Gaulle setting forth De Gaulle's policies on the future of NATO.

The split between Johnson and De Gaulle on the NATO issue is complete. De Gaulle wants to dismantle the NATO military system and preserve only the Atlantic Alliance pledge of 15 allies to help each other in case of attack. Johnson said the military system is an essential part of deterring aggression.

Johnson said NATO reform should be accomplished by the Allies working together, seeking to improve rather than to dismantle the defense system.

"Consultation, not isolation, is the route to reform," he said.

Representative Candidates Must File New Form

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. Norman H. Anderson held today that early candidates for state representative must file again after the final report is made by the House Redistricting Commission.

Sec'y of State James C. Kirkpatrick asked for the opinion.

He said 129 have filed for the office in whichever district might contain their respective residences.

All will be advised that early filings are invalid.

The opinion cited previous opinions, including one issued on the question of filings for senator and representative following the 1960 census.

"In the opinion of this office," it read, "any declaration of candidacy filed before the new districts have been created is a nullity, there being no office in existence for which the candidate may seek nomination."

Kirkpatrick said the attorney general advised him the same applies to 20 candidates for the state Senate, who filed before Dec. 9, and 10 for Congress, who filed prior to Oct. 13. Senate and congressional districts were remapped last year.

Final Touch Applied To Re-Mapping

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A new map of Missouri House districts got its finishing touches today before being filed with the secretary of state.

The tentative reapportionment plan was adopted by a 20-member bipartisan commission Tuesday, 18-2. The two dissenters were St. Louis Republicans, Ted Fischer and John B. Prentis.

The plan gives St. Louis City 28 seats with three of them classed as marginally Republican. St. Louis County gets 26 seats with eight of them considered Republican and two or three marginal. Jackson County will have 23 seats with six Republican plus some swing districts.

That gives the two big metropolitan areas 77 seats and the rest of Missouri 86.

Before the plan becomes final, the commission plans three days of hearings next week.

Monday it will hear witnesses from the St. Louis and Kansas City areas, Tuesday those from 4th, 6th and 9th congressional districts, plus that part of the 8th north of the Missouri River.

The rest of the 8th, plus the 7th and 10th districts, will be heard Wednesday.

Convenient Way To Pay Tickets

Installation of a drive-up parking ticket deposit box at Lot 13, 100 block West Second, was completed Tuesday, the Parking Department announced Wednesday. The drive-up deposit box is the first of its kind in Sedalia and is accessible from the street and the parking lot. Parking Department Superintendent Alva Lemens said 25 ticket deposit boxes are accessible throughout the city at present.

Political Agitation Erupts In Viet Nam

Banners Assail United States Support of Ky

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — New anti-government demonstrations erupted in Da Nang and Hue today, intensifying the political dispute between Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime and the Buddhist leadership. For the first time there were anti-American overtones.

Ten thousand persons milled about the city hall in Hue, the old imperial capital. Some carried banners attacking the United States for supporting Ky's military rule.

However, one knot of demonstrators carried banners saying: "We thank our American friends for helping us fight the Viet Cong."

American and Vietnamese employes at the nearby U.S. Information Service building hastily locked doors and hid equipment as rumors flew that the demonstrators might sack the center.

Two thousand persons attended an antigovernment rally in Da Nang amid another general strike that closed most shops in the northern military center.

The flurry of new agitation for ouster of the Saigon government took the spotlight from the fighting fronts. Another 100 bodies were found today by U.S. Marines at the scene of their battle with two Communist battalions about 70 miles south of Da Nang on Monday.

The dead brought the enemy toll claimed by the Leathernecks in their four-day Operation Texas in Quang Ngai Province, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, to 358 killed. The freshly drug graves were discovered in the village of Phon Dinh.

Another 99 Communists killed and 8 captured were reported by Marines in Operation Oregon, on the northern flank of the main Leatherneck push. This phase of operation was closed out today.

While the Marines hunted down the Reds in the coastal rice fields, U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief and F4 Phantom jets returned to the Mugia Pass in North Viet Nam, where the fighter-bombers caught a stalled convoy of 50 trucks Monday. On their return, the jets sighted another 20 camouflaged vehicles parked on Route 15 and dive-bombed them. There was no report of results.

Union Says Walkout Was Unauthorized

ST. LOUIS (AP)—About 250 union members walked off their jobs late Tuesday night at the Manufacturers Railway freight yards in St. Louis and set up pickets today, stopping the switching line's operations.

The employes, members of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Lodge 64, said they walked out because of an alleged violation of a work rule.

Union representative T. S. Dalton said the walkout was unauthorized.

'Harmony' Session

Democrats Gear 'Victory' Drive

The City campaign of the Democrats was opened by a spearhead meeting Tuesday night in the dining room of Bunnies Barbque at which time the candidates were introduced. The meeting, planned for various ward captains, was attended by more than 40 persons with Davey Jones, City Committee Chairman, presiding.

The meeting planned by E. Glenn Lewis, who lost in the primary election to James "Salty" Schumaker, for the party nomination for mayor, brought together a number of Democrats from various factions in a harmony meeting to elect the entire Democratic slate.

Schumaker made a brief talk asking the workers to do their best in supporting the entire ticket and bring back to Sedalia a Democratic Administration from mayor down through all City offices.

Other candidates introduced and who gave brief talks were Mrs. Opal Hugelman, wife of Frank Hugelman former City Collector, who is a candidate to seek re-election to the office; John M. Blue, seeking re-election as City Assessor; Lawrence N. Englund, up for re-election for City Magistrate; Walter Jessee, candidate from the Second Ward to succeed himself as Councilman, Robert "Bob" Wells seeking re-election as Councilman from the Third Ward; and Floyd Priddy seeking re-election for Councilman from the Fourth Ward.

Mrs. Perry L. Strole, treasurer, up for re-election; John C. McCloskey, candidate to succeed himself as City Attorney, and un-opposed; and James Askren, candidate for re-election as Councilman from the First Ward, were unable to be present.

Also speaking were Joe F. Rains, State Representative, who is seeking the Democratic party nomination for re-election in August and Robert "Bob" Johnson, candidate for the Sedalia School Board. Kenny Melton, who opposed Wells for the Council nomination spoke briefly.

Three representatives for the news media, Carl Yates of KSIS and R. L. Settles, from KDRO radio, and D. Kelly Scruton Sedalia Democrat - Capital were called upon.

William F. Brown, gave the principal talk and spoke on har-

Sedalia Man Is Charged In Break-Ins

A Sedalia man is being held by police, for investigation, after three reported break-ins which occurred Tuesday, two involving motor vehicles and the third Wiggle Inn, Pettis and Moniteau.

Being held is James Louis Marshall, 23, 221 East Johnson, who was arrested by Sedalia police at his home at 12:02 a.m.

A state complaint, signed by Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz, was filed in Magistrate Court Wednesday afternoon charging Marshall with second degree burglary.

The first reported break-in occurred at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the MFA parking lot. Assistant manager Bud Grose told police an MFA truck had been broken into and items taken included a hammer, a small wrench and a flashlight. Total value of the missing items was listed at $3.25.

The second incident involved a motor vehicle owned by Jack C. Lawson, 1119 East 15th, while it was parked in the 200 block on West Pacific. Lawson told police two wrenches and a two-

Suffers Stab Wounds In Prison Shop

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Jimmie Dunn of St. Martin's, a shop foreman, was reported in satisfactory condition today after suffering stab wounds in the State Penitentiary clothing shop Tuesday afternoon.

Warden Harold R. Swenson said Dunn was attacked by an inmate who is a "borderline mental case."

Two other employes — Dan Beasley of Fulton and Ellis Boyd of Eldon — were hurt slightly when they went to Dunn's rescue.

Rolla Construction Grant Approved

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — A grant of $213,975 for construction of a graduate addition to the mechanical engineering building at the University of Missouri at Rolla has been approved by the U. S. Office of Education.

The Missouri legislature had appropriated $900,000 toward the project.

Personal Views On JuCo Proposal

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of personal comments by residents on the Pettis - Benton county Junior College District proposal to be voted on April 5.

David Hieronymus, real estate agent, 612 South Ohio—"Besides all the educational advantages this will offer, there is no doubt a Junior College will provide a large payroll, our population will increase, our real estate values should go up, and industries can be attracted to this area."

John M. Sneed, farmer, Route 5, Sedalia — "I think a Junior College would be a God-send to the farm area particularly. Statistics bear out that only 10 per cent of our young farm people are remaining in this locality after high school graduation. A greater number even do not further their education. Anything to hold our youth in this vicinity and improve their earning power is a step in the right direction."

Rev. Warner M. Rice, pastor, Sharon Chapel, Seventh Day Adventist Church, Sedalia — "I think the establishment of a Junior College for Pettis and Benton counties will prove to be a real advantage to the whole area. It will enable our youth to secure academic, technical, and industrial skills; it will tend to permit our young to settle in this area permanently; industry will be more inclined to locate facilities here, knowing qualified help is readily available."

George E. Arquitt, businessmen and church youth leader, 1201 So. Arlington—"I feel that the few additional tax dollars we will have to spend will be more than compensated in the future. If we improve the status of many children, who would not otherwise be able to go to college, the money we spend is nebulous in comparison with what we are doing for the youth of our community."

SEVENTEEN PAST Exalted Rulers of Sedalia Lodge No. 125 B.P.O. Elks attended the annual dinner meeting of the Past Exalted Rulers Association at the Missouri Homestead Tuesday night. The following officers were elected: President Forrest Yoder succeeding Kenneth Schilb; Vice-President, John Craig succeeding Yoder; Secretary-Treasurer, Don Richardson, re-elected. Pictured above are: left to right, seated, O. B. Poundstone, George H. Scruton, R. W. Hartman and Virgil Corson. Wind of Change Sweeping Across Indonesian Nation

EDITOR'S NOTE—Stanley M. Swinton, an assistant general manager of The Associated Press, first went to Indonesia in early 1946 and headed The AP's Jakarta office in 1946-47 during the Indonesian fight for independence. Tuesday he was one of the first American newsmen admitted to the country since President Sukarno expelled U. S. news representatives Jan. 19.

An AP News Analysis
By STANLEY M. SWINTON

JAKARTA (AP) — The wind of fundamental change apparently is sweeping across Indonesia.

President Sukarno officially remains chief of state, but army Lt. Gen. Suharto and his military allies hold the real power.

The best-informed sources in this hot and humid capital believe the new leaders are far more than a military junta. They expect Suharto and his colleagues to install a primarily civilian government with powerful military backing behind the scenes.

Internationally, Indonesia's new regime is expected to be neutralist in deed as well as word. Sukarno gave lip service to neutralism but moved steadily toward the Chinese Communist camp. The new Indonesia is expected to follow the type of international role played by the late Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Men long on the scene here predict that in the years immediately ahead, Indonesia's new leaders will dedicate themselves to restoring the nation's shattered economy.

Food is the immediate problem. Rice is the staple for Indonesia's more than 105 million people. Today it costs 30 times what it did 14 months ago.

The rains came late this year, so the rice harvest will not take place until May, a month late. In the chaos of the last year, transport was disrupted, so that rice shortages have been aggravated in the cities and in such densely populated rural areas as Central and East Java.

So far Indonesia's new leaders have not asked for outside assistance to meet the growing food shortage. When they do, they are likely to turn to Japan or some other similar nation, rather than to the United States or the Soviet Union.

This would avoid any internal criticism that the new regime is turning either toward the Americans or the Soviets.

When the food crisis has been surmounted, Indonesia's leaders must face the herculean task of rebuilding the whole economy. While the economies of other nations have been growing, the per capita gross national product in Indonesia has declined between one and two per cent each year for a decade.

Meanwhile, Indonesia's population has been growing an estimated 2.5 per cent a year.

The 3,000 luxuriant islands which make up the Indonesian Archipelago basically are underpopulated. But Java, with seven per cent of Indonesia's land area, has 70 per cent of the population. Tied to their fabled island by history and tradition, only a few thousand Javanese emigrate to the sparsely populated outer islands. In Central Java, one of the most densely inhabited areas on earth, population growth is a staggering 2.7 per cent a year.

Unlike India, where a government birth control program is slowly beginning to show some results, nothing has been done in Indonesia to reduce population growth.

Indonesia's new leaders recognize that their overwhelming problem is to build an economy which can feed the exploding population and give each Indonesian more of the material benefits so long denied him.

Ever since the Japanese army of occupation installed him as Indonesia's leader during World War II, Sukarno has been the man who symbolized independence in the minds of Indonesia's masses.

"Man does not live by bread alone," the aging Bung — Big Brother — Karno would shout as he played his role of father of the nation, orator, and oracle.

But man does not live by slogans alone either. The fierce appeals to nationalism which brought cheers and devotion 20 years ago faded with repetition. Foreign aid — mainly from the United States and the Soviet Union — propped up an incredibly disorganized economy. But then foreign aid ran out, too.

It was the young people of Indonesia — university and high school students — who went into the streets to drive an effective wedge between Sukarno and the people who had for so many years idolized him.

The student movement represents the best in Indonesian youth, according to people long stationed here. They say that the students who led the demonstrations will be the leaders of Indonesia tomorrow. They were willing to risk their lives to insure Indonesia's future.

e-Story

To the rescue comes the United States Department of Agriculture. Pictured here are some of the species of ornamental plants developed with rambler houses in mind. Some are dwarfs and others bred for small size. Plant explorers have searched the world for them. Many are now in nurserymen's hands or will soon be available.

The dwarf Alberta spruce's cousins get 40 feet tall. Just as shapely, this will never get higher than 10 feet.

Slow growing habits of dogwoods fit them into the scheme. Other recommended trees: crab apple, Japanese cherry, golden-rain and red bud.

This dwarf Buford holly is 13 years old and only slightly taller than Gil Marz, 4, of Hyattsville, Md. Well-suited for low-growing, low-maintenance landscaping.

Voice Unity Hopes

Pope, Archbishop Meeting First In Five Centuries

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Pope of the Roman Catholic Church and an Archbishop of Canterbury met officially today for the first time in more than five centuries, voiced hopes for Christian unity and world peace, and embraced.

"You rebuild a bridge which for centuries has lain fallen between the Church of Rome and the Church of Canterbury," Pope Paul VI told Dr. Michael Ramsey, primate of the world's 45 million Anglicans.

The Pope called the meeting in the Vatican's Sistine Chapel "a great day" in history and said it had meaning "for peace among the nations of the world and for promotion of Christian britherhood among men."

"I have come with the longing in my heart, which I know to be in your heart also, that we may by our meeting together help in the fulfillment of the prayer of our divine Lord that all His disciples may come to unity in the truth," Dr. Ramsey said.

He said he was joining his voice to Pope Paul's to appeal for an end to war in the world.

It was the first official meeting between an Archbishop of Canterbury and a Pope since King Henry VIII separated the Church of England from Rome in 1534. Today's meeting was preceded by a brief courtesy call by Dr. Ramsey's predecessor, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, on Pope John XXIII five years ago.

In their official greetings both the Pope and the archbishop took note of the great differences that separate their churches. They made clear they expect no great changes to come immediately.

"But charity can, and must, from now on be exercised between us, and show forth its mysterious and prodigious strength," the Pope said.

"It is my hope, and the hope of Your Holiness, too, that there may be increasing dialogue," Dr. Ramsey said.

The two met in the 16th century chapel where the Pope was elected in June 1963. It was the first time the pontiff had used the chapel to receive a visitor.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I were divorced two years ago. I agreed to take our son and let my husband take our daughter. We discussed it with the children and discovered, happily, that this is what they wanted, too.

Six months ago my husband married a flea-brain who doesn't know enough to come in out of the rain. The problem is this: They go out at least four evenings a week. The sitter they have hired for Rosemary (now 12 years of age) is a 19-year-old college boy who lives in their apartment building.

I worry because Rosemary is large for her age and a Lolita if I ever saw one. But I hesitate to say anything because my husband and I agreed to leave each other alone and mind our own business. Should I break our "mind-your-own-business pact" and speak up?—OUT OF THE PICTURE.

Dear Picture: I can't imagine anything MORE your business than what happens to your daughter. Tell your husband to engage a woman to sit with Lolita (I mean Rosemary). And don't waste any time.

Dear Ann: Is there a law library in town — somewhere a person can get books and read up on his rights?

I sued a neighbor a few months ago and I'm sure I would have won my case if my lawyer had known his business. He appeared very dumb. When the judge asked him some questions he said a few words in Latin and sounded like he was stuck.

If I ever get into a legal fight again I want to be able to defend myself. Why pay out good money to a lawyer who learns from the same books I could learn from if I knew where to get them?—OUNCE OF PREVENTION.

Dear Ounce: Would you consider getting books on medicine and reading up on surgery so you could operate on yourself?

Law is more than books. It is a demanding profession which requires years of training, scholarship and experience. There are no Do-It-Yourself kits. So—if you should need a lawyer in the future, play it smart and hire one despite your feelings of disappointment.

Dear Ann Landers: Before my boy friend left for the Army we became engaged. He asked his best pal (who is 4-F) to take care of me. Well, his pal is trying to take care of himself, if you know what I mean. He has made several passes at me and I am disgusted with the big ape.

We have had some fierce arguments and he says if I am not nicer to him he will write my fiance and tell him I am running around. My fiance is the jealous type and I'm afraid he might believe it. How can I defend myself?—DOT.

Dear Dot: Why let the ape put you on the defensive? Tell him to get lost or YOU will write your boy friend about HIM. If your boy friend would take this blackmailer's word over yours, why in the world would you want him?

Confidential to MAY BE MY LAST CHANCE: This is a poor reason to accept a proposal for marriage. Sometimes when a woman says "No" they BOTH live happily ever after.

TIGER STRIKES—Although this F-5 Freedom Fighter's mission is part of an experiment, the bomb-load it's delivering over a Viet Cong target in South Viet Nam is the real thing. F-5s, organized in the 4503d Tactical Fighter Squadron, dubbed "Skoshi Tigers," are being tested in combat to determine effectiveness of this small, inexpensive fighter compared with the heavier, more sophisticated planes which have been bearing the brunt in Viet Nam. They have been hitting southern targets since last Nov. 1 and began strikes against Communist North Viet Nam Feb. 28.

Critical Of Great Society

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Carl T. Rowan, former director of the U.S. Information Agency, said Tuesday certain disenchantment with Great Society consensus politicis is setting in.

Rowan discussed his transition from spokesman for the administration to critic of it in an interview before speaking to the Men's Club at the Beth Shalom Synagogue.

Rowan left the USIA last July 21 and now is a syndicated columnist whose column appears in about 90 newspapers. He was the highest ranking Negro in federal government when he succeeded the late Edward R. Murrow as USIA director.

"I think Viet Nam could still break the President, could still destroy him in terms of his place in history," Rowan said. He added that he supported the administration's basic policy in Viet Nam. Containment would be a victory, he said.

Rowan said the war on poverty is of great importance as a vehicle to help Negroes reach the affluence of the white majority, but local political bickering in community after community has hampered it.

"I think the Negro community is in a state of intellectural turmoil right now," he said. "Many are unhappy that the Democratic party commands so great a proportion of the Negro votes, but the opposition party gives them little reason to change."

Find Husband, Son Dying of Wounds

BETHANY, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Thurman returned home from visiting her sister Tuesday night and found her husband and son dying of gunshot wounds.

George Thurman, 66, and the son, George Arlan Thurman, 32, both died soon after arrival at Noll Memorial Hospital.

Harrison County Sheriff Don Stockwell said the father apparently had shot the son, who was an invalid, once in the chest and once in the forehead and then shot himself in the head.

Mrs. Bill Taylor, Mrs. Thurman's sister, said the son had been an invalid since he was 8 months old and was confined to bed or wheelchair. She said the father had been in pain recently, suffering from cancer.

Six Deaths In Wake

Roaring Spring Blizzard Whips Through the Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A roaring spring blizzard whipped through the Plains states today, leaving behind deep snows which were whirled into drifts by biting winds.

Six deaths were attributed to the blizzard: three in Nebraska, two in Wyoming and one in South Dakota.

Much of South Dakota's Black Hills had up to two feet of snow.

Winds measured at 50 to 70 miles per hour swirled across Nebraska Tuesday and Tuesday night. All roads were treacherous and were impassable in central and western areas.

Twenty-nine children, a driver and a teacher spent the night huddled in blankets in a stalled school bus between Ord and Loup City in central Nebraska.

At O'Neill in the same area, an expectant mother finally reached a hospital via a wrecker after two cars tried to get her to a hospital and both became stalled.

Many power and telephone lines were down in the central and northern areas as up to 10 inches of snow fell.

Eppley Field in Omaha, Neb., was blacked out by a power failure Tuesday night and all outgoing flights were canceled. There were many power breaks in the Omaha metropolitan area.

Strong winds lashed New Mexico and blew dust so hard that visibility dropped to zero at times. Temperatures dropped 31 degrees in a 24-hour period in northeastern New Mexico.

In Iowa, ice storms were followed by wet, clinging snow in the northwest, resulting in broken lines and power shortages. Sioux City got the worst of the attack as snapping power lines toppled throughout the city. Schools were closed and repair crews were called from Cedar Rapids and Des Moines.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in northwestern Kansas. High winds caused trouble for Missouri forest fire fighters in southwestern Missouri and several hundred acres burned and some homes were threatened.

Eleven wild fires burned up to 1,500 acres in the Lake of the Ozarks area. A large prairie fire swept over an extensive area near Emporia, Kan., destroying grass and pastureland.

Traffic was at a standstill in southern Minnesota and the state highway patrol advised against travel. There was considerable blowing and drifting of snow.

Colder weather headed into the Dakotas and Minnesota. The lower temperatures delayed flood crests expected on the Red River along the Minnesota-North Dakota border.

Winds up to 70 m.p.h. ripped across most of Texas Tuesday and late Tuesday night and rain splashed across wide sections of central and northeastern Texas. The mercury which soared to 92 at Presidio dropped quickly behind the storm front.

Blizzard conditions covered the Goodland area in western Kansas and hotels, motels and some private homes were filled with stranded motorists. Winds up to 60 m.p.h. lashed the heavy snow. Between Goodland and Brewster, where U. S. 24 runs parallel to the railroad line, some stranded motorists were picked up by a westbound Rock Island train. Freezing weather prevailed in the area.

Wife Calls Palma Death A Suicide

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Documents filed in federal court Tuesday by the widow of Salvatore (Sam) Palma and one of his associates assert he committed suicide.

U.S. Attorney Russell Millin said:

"In the light of the known facts, such a conclusion is absurd."

He said the FBI and the federal grand jury will continue their investigations.

Palma's body was found Jan. 6 in a cemetery. Authorities called it a gangland slaying.

An affidavit signed by Palma's widow states her husband "was not murdered but that he committed suicide."

The affidavit was appended to a motion by Vincent (Beans) Inzerillo for a reduction of sentence. Inzerillo and Palma were slated to be codefendants in a case involving the receipt of stolen money and a revolver through the mail. Inzerillo received the maximum sentence for his participation. He alleged in his motion that the stiff sentence might have resulted from the violent death of Palma.

Mrs. Palma said when her husband left home he took a gun. She said he telephoned her about 2 a. m. to give her instructions about notes left in a drawer at their home. She said he hung up after saying he "loved me with all his heart" and "I would never see him again."

Oust Commissioner After Investigation

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Board of Education ousted Building Commissioner John P. Morrell Tuesday night after an investigation into use of board employes to help landscape Morrell's home.

Louis Ratz, assistant building commissioner, was appointed to the $20,000-a-year post "to serve at the will of the board."

The board, in its statement, said the conduct of the commissioner "fell far short of the high level of responsibility required of an officer of the board."

Morrell testified he did not know the work was being done by board employes, but suspected it and made no inquiry to verify his suspicion.

Morrell's predecessor, George Fletcher, was ousted by the Circuit Court in 1958 for gross misconduct following disclosure he had school building department employes working on school board members' homes on school time and pay.

'Cowboy' Robs Office

MOUNT AIRY, N.C. (AP) — When a gunman dressed like a cowboy picked a business to rob Tuesday, guess what he chose? Western Union, of course.

The unidentified man got away with about $50.

Two Escape Then Later Are Retaken

GRANTS, N.M. (AP)—A U.S. marshal was expected in Grants today with federal warrants for two men who apparently have broken out of two jails in the past two weeks.

The FBI identified them as Charles Ray Kellick, 23, Belleville, Ill., and Herbert Leroy Jones, 20, Colby, Kan.

Kellick was indicted on a murder charge in the fatal shooting on Dec. 4 of Lloyd Armes of Washington Park, Ill., outside East St. Louis. He was scheduled to go on trial Monday. Jones, a painter, was one of two men charged with burglarizing a Barber Shop in East St. Louis on Feb. 21.

Officers said Jones, Kellick and Charles Davis, 20, East St. Louis, escaped from the St. Clair County Jail at Belleville on March 14. Davis was recaptured a few days later.

Jones and Kellick were arrested at Grants Thursday after a service station attendant told officers they used only nickles to pay for gasoline. State Policeman James Coslin stopped their car. Kellick was charged with driving without a license and Jones with vagrancy after they were unable to prove ownership of the car.

They escaped from the Grants jail early Monday by overpowering a jailer but were recaptured later in the day.

If the U.S. marshal indentifies them and if the district attorney is willing to release them from the state charges, they would be brought to Albuqerque for an appearance before a U.S. commissioner.

Six Fire Dept. Units Fight Fire To Control

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Firemen from at least six fire departments brought under control late Monday night a fire that destroyed three buildings and threatened downtown Carbondale.

The Illinois Terminal Railroad depot was evacuated and a freight train and the Seminole, a passenger train going from Chicago to Florida, were delayed as flames blew across the tracks.

The blaze broke out in the three-story frame and brick former Prince Hotel, which houses a pawn shop, travel agency and news stand one block from the town's main street.

Two adjacent buildings housing a tavern, liquor store, credit bureau and cafe also were destroyed. They were a short distance from the railroad tracks that run through the center of town. There was no estimate of the loss.

Firemen from Carbondale, Marion, Duquoin, Murphysboro, Carterville and Anna battled the blaze.

Cornine-Schell Vows Exchanged

Miss Linda Diane Cornine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cornine, Marshall, became the bride of Mr. Robert Dale Schell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schell, Hughesville, at half past seven o'clock Friday evening, March 11, at Berea Christian Church, near Nelson. Gilbert Person, Enon, officiating during the double ring ceremony.

Fifteen red candles burned in a brass arch candelabra. Two baskets of red carnations and white gladioli flanked the candelabra.

Mrs. Ronald McCoy, Slater, played traditional wedding music at the piano. She was accompanist for the Rev. Kenneth Woods, New Franklin, who sang "Because" and, at the close of the ceremony, "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street length gown of lace over satin, with scalloped neckline and wrist length sleeves, coming to points. The scalloped lace formed points on the skirt. Her veil was held by a tiara of pearls. Her only jewelry was an antique cameo necklace, for Mrs. Gordon Lawson. The bride carried a nosegay bouquet of white carnations and red sweetheart roses.

Miss Judy Cornine, Marshall Junction, sister of the bride, wore a street length dress of red brocade with round neckline and short sleeves. Her headdress was red tulle held by a circlet of red brocade. Red velvet ribbons held her nosegay bouquet of peppermint carnations.

The Rev. Larry Lewis, Kansas City, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Donald Nichols, Nelson, and Mr. Jerry Lee Vardeman, Hughesville.

The bride's mother wore a toast brown dress with beige and brown accessories. A navy dress, accessorized with black was selected by the bridegroom's mother. White carnations and sweetheart roses were made into corsages for the mothers.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church serving room. Red and white bells and streamers enhanced the room. A traditional miniature bridal couple stood atop the bridal tier of the three tiered wedding cake, which was also decorated with red roses.

Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Wallace McCown, Sedalia, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Jim May, Columbia, Miss Nancy Wright and Miss Joyce Mitchell, Houstonia, cousins of the bride. The guest book was attended by Mrs. Darold Tilly.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a bright pink two piece knit suit with pink accessories.

The couple is at home at Eastwood Trailer Court, Marshall.

The bride was graduated from Marshall High School in 1965. In 1963, the bridegroom was graduated from Hughesville High School.

The couple is employed at International Shoe Factory, Marshall.

Laughs Keep Following Forsythe

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you haven't been following "The John Forsythe Show" lately — and the most recent Nielsen ratings suggest that most of you have not — it may come as a surprise to learn that debonaire Major Foster and his devoted sergeant have run away from that girls school the major inherited to seek adventure and laughs in the funny old cold war.

The two merry Air Force men, called back to the colors, were in London as of Monday night, on the verge of test-flying a supersecret plane. They were beset, not only by a dopey double for Sergeant Robbins who kept saying "nyet" and calling people "comrade," but by a second double who squinted like Charlie Chan and had trouble with his "L's" as in "rots of ruck."

The sudden shift of local from a giggly girls school to judo chops in hotel corridors was accomplished without so much as a farewell to headmistress Elsa Lanchester and gym teacher Ann B. Davis. But that old laugh track followed them clear across the ocean.

It was a last ditch effort to salvage a comedy series that never has achieved good health, but Monday night's episode, with inept secret agents tumbling over each other like characters out of "Seven Keys to Baldpate" was embarrassingly feeble.

The repairs have had little effect and the show will not be back next season. John Forsythe and his costar Guy Marks deserve better material.

CBS has maintained its modest lead in the national Nielsen ratings race, according to a report released Monday and covering the two-week period ending March 6. CBS ran up an average rating of 20.8, followed by NBC with 19.6 and ABC, 18.8.

The 10 most popular shows during the period were NBC's Bonanza, CBS' Cinderella, Lucy Show, Beverly Hillbillies, Green Acres, Andy Griffith Show, ABC's Thursday night Batman, CBS' Gomer Pyle, ABC's Bewitched and CBS' Ed Sullivan Show.

Airman R. Bell Named 'Airman Of the Month'

Airman First Class Robert L. Bell, Jr., son of Mrs. Ella G. Bell, 304 West Cooper Street, has been selected as the Headquarters Airman of the Month for the 2nd Mobile Communications Group overseas for February.

This information was conveyed to Mrs. Bell in a letter from Col. J. W. Anderson, Jr., Commander, who mentioned that this honor is conferred upon airmen only after they are found to meet rather stringent standards by a board of officers and senior noncommissioned officers.

Congratulations also went to Airman Bell from his commander who pointed out the latter's outstanding work as Aerospace Ground Equipment Repairman and additional duties as instructor in Ground Power Section, especially with respect to establishing a complete training course for the magnetic amplifier of the MB-5 generator set. Personal appearance, management of personal affairs were included in recognition of outstanding performance for the award.

"I commend you for this excellent record and want you to know that I am extremely proud to have you as a member of this command," Col Anderson concluded in his letter to Airman Bell.

Sorosis Spring Meet

United Nations Comments Given by Mrs. L. J. Bowker

Mrs. L. J. Bowker, chairman, Mid-Continent Division, Speaker Services for the United Nations, Kansas City, was the speaker at Sorosis Monday afternoon at Heard Memorial Club House, explaining many things in her talk "The United Nations Is People."

Mrs. Bowker quoted John Foster Dulles, secretary of state 1953-59 as saying that if a man could sit down 20 minutes and talk to anyone who is against the United Nations that they could change their minds.

That was the reason they decided on the speaker service, she went on to say. Although articles on the United Nations were good, they felt that speakers on the subject would offer a way for questions to be answered. Mrs. Bowker, as one of the speakers, goes to the United Nations and sits in on the meetings. Here, she said, they not only become informed on what is going on, but they also observe reactions and expressions, of the representatives from the various countries. Gathered together are people from big countries and small, new countries and old, communist countries and democracies.

A few years ago she told of the roll call vote. Usually the small communist countries were told how to vote but this time on an amendment they did not have the opportunity. The roll call, she said, is alphabetical and the first was Albania, which looked for the signal of which way to vote. Albania voted "Yes" and then Bulgaria missed the cue and voted "No." As the other communist countries voted "Yes" Bulgaria diplomats, realizing their mistake became very nervous and upset, until finally the man in the chair said: "If Bulgaria wishes to change its vote it may do so." This called attention to what was going on, Bulgaria had goofed and thus there would not be a block.

The last two years, however, the speaker said, this has begun to break up. They do not always go along and this could not have happened five years ago.

With the new countries their first entry they come swaggering in, but after about three weeks they become relaxed. They find they don't have political power against them here but are treated well.

One of the major tools now is the status of women. All of the countries want economic development and countries find that as the status of women rises so does the economy of the country.

They have set up a standard, too, for countries to sign if they want to progress economically, which is a minimum age for marriage, because in some countries girls marry as young as eight or nine years old.

Mrs. Bowker told of the wonderful manner Dag Hammarskjold handled the United Nations, and the quiet manner in which Adlai Stevenson accomplished things. It was after the day that Khrushchev pounded on the table with his shoe that Stevenson began having suppers inviting only four or five diplomats from the United Nations at a time and keeping the suppers simple so there would be no embarrassment in different customs of eating in their countries. Here with a small group and relaxed they could talk things over.

New nations often ask where their offices are in the United Nations Building. No nation, the speaker said, has offices in that building. They have offices in various buildings in New York whatever they can afford.

The people on the international civil service, she said, are paid directly by the UN and does not favor one country above another. On this staff, she explained, each country has a quota and Russia has never reached its quota because it will not allow anyone to stay in this country more than three years.

The United Nations has missionaries to go to other countries to help with health and different problems as do the church missionaries, but the difference is that the missionaries from the United Nations can go only into the countries where they have been invited. In this way the United Nations missionaries have the protection of the country in which they are serving.

People often insist that China be allowed in the United Nations, Mrs. Bowker commented China is already in the UN, it is a charter member, one of the big five and has never violated any rules. It is a different story with the Mao Red Chinese government because he makes demands. One is to expel Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

In giving her personal opinion, Mrs. Bowker said she did not like either Mao or Chiang Kai-Shek, and she believed that when these two men were removed from the picture that there would be a different attitude entirely. The new generation growing up and the two countries would one day be friendly and peaceful.

Mrs. Bowker also believes that the war in Viet Nam will end this year. She does not think they will come to any agreement over a conference table but that the North Viet Nam forces will simply fade away in the hills as has happened in other countries.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Jack Cunningham, civics chairman.

Mrs. Joseph Maunders presided over the meeting and announced that the closing luncheon and election of officers will be held at 12 noon on Monday, April 4.

Lightweight suits and coats will play a big role in the Easter fashion scene and there are jacket lengths and silhouettes to suit every taste. Barney Max of California does the three-piece suit (left) in featherweight pure naked wool. Jacket tops a matching sleeveless shell and crisply pleated skirt. Jacket has cloverleaf lapels and two-button closing. Softly shaped coat by Henry Friedricks (center) in lightweight pure virgin wool is collarless and has double-breasted buttons and set-in sleeves. Lean column of chic (right) is the linear-checked pure wool coat with narrow, gently rolled collar by Sony Schotland for Adolphe Zelinka. Sleeves are set in and pockets are slipped invisibly into side seams. (Wool Bureau)

Office Hours Extended By Parties

By KELLY SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Goblets clink. Champagne bubbles. Waiters stand erect in stiff white collars. A combo plays under the Picasso and an ambassador trips over a table in candlelight.

It's a Washington party on the diplomatic circuit, one of 200 a month, 1,000 a season.

It's an extension of office hours redone in dinnerjacket. For many diplomats, it's the most profitable part of the working day.

Large, boring, exciting, intimate, opulent — regardless, it's an intrinsic link in the capital scene, a tableau enacted up to 20 times a night from the mansions on Foxhall Road to the embassies along Massachusetts Avenue.

Where else would one learn that Vice President Humphrey ran out of money on his Asian trip and borrowed $7.46 from Thailand Ambassador James Thompson to buy Muriel some Thai silk.

Food goes native. The Turkish have grape leaves, the Arabs have lamb, the French serve pastries and the Koreans pine nut soup.

Drinks are light: tomato juice, grapefruit juice, ginger-ale. The tipsy diplomat is not common. Most envoys go to extremes to avoid drinking too much.

An average ambassador might attend three cocktail parties and a dinner nightly with this battle plan: nothing the first round, fruit juice the second, a weak whisky the third round, wine with dinner and no after-dinner drink.

Dress is tricky. If you attend functions requiring different attire, you either: change in the car, rush home between parties or wear one outfit and bear the remarks.

Hostilities, aid programs, and political visits are known to have been worked out at social functions. It's said that former French Ambassador Herve Alphand got more done in 15 minutes at one of his wife's parties than in a week of office work.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., strolled out of a gathering recently and, asked what he'd been doing, replied he was settling the affairs of Southeast Asia.

Foresees Ordination Of Women

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A world-renowned Roman Catholic theologian today foresaw the ordination of women in the Church.

The Rev. Bernard Haring of Germany said he believed it feasible "to ordain women as deaconesses."

After that the question could be raised whether they "can be called to the priesthood," he said. "I would not say yes, but I would not close the door to it."

The diaconate is a level of holy orders prior to the full priesthood that involves ordination.

The subject, which touched off a lively exchange, arose Tuesday at an international conference at the University of Notre Dame on the long-range ramification of Rome's historic Vatican Council II.

Sister Mary Ann Ida, president of Mundelein College at Chicago, intersected it was a great comfort that "at long last the Church is turning to consideration of the role of women in the Church."

Past barriers to them, she added, have been based on sociological and historical factors, rather than religious grounds.

Some Protestant churches, including Presbyterian, Methodist and the United Church of Christ, permit ordination of women, but relatively few are in that office. They are barred from it in most major churches, Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic.

Leading scholars of the various denominations are taking part in the meeting here.

Father Haring, one of Rome's most influential moral theologians, and now a visiting professor at Brown University, said there were deaconesses in early Christianity, and advocated that the office be restored.

"At present, I would advise them not to make claims on the episcopacy (the position of bishop or the papacy)," and added he feels they could meet the demands of holy orders as well or "better than men."

Rev. R. Smith Honored At Surprise Party

The Rev. Roy Smith, minister of LaMonte Christian Church, was honored at a surprise birthday party March 18 by Christian Builders Sunday School Class, at the church.

"This Is Your Life" was the party theme. Each of the 14 mystery guests was identified by the Rev. Mr. Smith before making his appearance. Several out of town guests attended.

Corsages and boutonnieres were presented to the family of Mr. Smith and to him.

A quartet, composed of the Forbes sisters, sang "How Great Thou Art," accompanied by Miss Arthea Mahin. D. I. Sevier presented a gift to Mr. Smith from the church. The group sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

A decorated cake and coffee were served to 86 persons.

Close Girdle Factory For Driver Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. John Morgan, 43, is closing her one-woman girdle factory to become a truck driver.

"I've been fascinated by trucks since I was 12 when my brother George had one, and I've always loved driving," she said, explaining why she decided to change careers. She said she finds driving "even in traffic, very relaxing."

Mrs. Morgan is in the final week of a three-week truck driving course at Millville Airport in New Jersey.

"It's a very rigid course, you've no idea how rigid," said Mrs. Morgan, whose husband approved of her closing her shop in Philadelphia to take up handling the big trucks.

"We do classroom work in the morning and field work in the afternoons. There's a lot to know about trucks that people wouldn't even suspect," she said.

Her instructor, Ernest Morgan, who is no relation, said she is coming along just fine.

"She's built to handle the equipment and she doesn't complain as much as the men about handling the rigs. I think she keeps them on their toes," said the instructor.

Mrs. Morgan weighs 235 pounds.

The problems she faced including learning the intricate gear shift and how to steer a big rig.

"My big problem now," she said, is backing up. But that comes with experience. You see, when you turn the wheels one way, the trailer goes the other. It can be very confusing."

The course ends Friday and Mrs. Morgan said she is eager to get a job as a truck driver.

"It's a nice profession to get into and I'm hoping someone will hire me."

Faubus Is On Sideline Second Time

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — For the second time in his career, Orval E. Faubus, six-term governor of Arkansas, stood voluntarily on the political sidelines today. Leaving an opening in the doorway, Faubus has announced that he will not seek a seventh term.

The only thing that could lure him back into the race, Faubus said, would be failure of the Democratic party to produce a candidate capable of challenging Republican Winthrop Rockefeller, multimillionaire brother of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Faubus pleaded in a lengthy statement for a unified Democratic effort against Rockefeller in November.

Then he relaxed, smiled and said, "I'll sleep better tonight, although I've never had any difficulty."

His statement was taken with a grain of salt by many who remembered that he had retired in 1962, then changed his mind at the last minute.

He can qualify as a candidate any time before the Democratic primary ticket closes at noon April 27.

Rockefeller, reached at Pine Mountain, Ga., where he is attending a Republican school for candidates, said he would believe Faubus is out on April 27.

Republicans had predicted, even before the announcement, that Faubus would pull his 1962 switch again.

Faubus said the only announced Democratic candidate, State Rep. Kenneth Sulcer, cannot challenge Rockefeller.

He declined to assess the stature of others whose names have been mentioned.

the vote in 1964 in beating Rockefeller and repulsing the first serious bid the GOP has made for the governor's office since Reconstruction.

The names of Justice Jim Johnson of the Arkansas Supreme Court, former U.S. Rep. Dale Alford, Prosecutor Sam Boyce of Newport, former Rep. Brooks Hays and Dr. Ralph Phelps, president of Ouachita Baptist College, figured in speculation when Faubus was regarded as a candidate. The list is expected to swell now that Faubus' friends can feel free to move.

Faubus, first elected in 1954, said he was a reluctant candidate the last two times out. He re-entered the 1962 race, he said, because he wasn't satisfied with the Democratic primary field. He said he ran in 1964 because no other candidate Faubus polled 57 per cent of could have defeated Rockefeller.

In 1957 Faubus used National Guard troops temporarily to block desegregation of Little Rock Central High School, touching off the first confrontation of state and federal power in the school integration crisis.

Underwriter Association Meet Planned

James H. Metzger, Director of Public Relations, Security Benefit Life Insurance Co., Topeka, Kan., will be the principal speaker before the Central Missouri Association of Life Underwriters at noon, March 25. The meeting will be held at the Gold Cafeteria.

Metzger was named "outstanding advertising student of America," the highest honor bestowed on a student majoring in advertising while attending Washburn University in Topeka, where he was graduated with honors in 1957. He has been editor of a trade magazine, member of the promotional staff of a large metropolitan daily newspaper, account executive for an advertising agency, member of the promotion staff of a radio station, and a market analysis division manager of a television station, all before he was 25.

Starting out as advertising director of Security Benefit Life in March of 1958, Metzger took over as director of public relations of that company in 1962. During the speaker's helm of Security Benefit's promotional department, the company has received more advertising awards from the Life Advertisers Association for materials produced for its field force than any other company in its category.

Metzger is co-founder of the Professional Advertising Club of Topeka, founder of the Direct Mail Club of the same city, and a member of the Public Relations Society of America. At the present time, Metzger is collaborating with a noted economist in preparing an advertising textbook.

Jim Harms, program chairman for March for the CEMO Life Underwriters, will introduce the program. James L. Denny, president of the local association, will have charge of the meeting.

Doctors Come Under Scrutiny

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A number of California physicians are under investigation for performing abortions which they believe necessary, but which some authorities say are illegal.

This was disclosed at a panel meeting of the California Medical Association Monday by Dr. James McNulty, a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Dr. McNulty, Los Angeles obstetrician and husband of actress Ann Blythe, declined to reveal the number of cases under investigation but said they were widespread in the state.

California law, he said, permits abortion only to save the life of the mother. He said some physicians are performing abortions, however, on the grounds that childbirth could affect the mother's mental health or that she had German measles during pregnancy, believed to cause a percentage of defective children.

"This is hypocrisy," Dr. McNulty said. "If the law is wrong, it is up to the people to change it. It is not up to the doctor to circumvent it, no matter how much he may disagree or want to change the law."

His statement drew sharp comment from Dr. Keith P. Russell, Los Angeles obstetrician who is chairman of the CMA Committee on Maternal and Child Health.

Dr. Russell, moderator of the panel discussion on abortions, at which Dr. McNulty spoke, later told newsmen:

"The State Board of Medical Examiners is appointed by the governor. It is not a group elected by the State Medical Association and does not necessarily represent the association's views.

"It is to be hoped that the board would be of help in finding solutions to problems that the majority of physicians can agree with, but this is not always the case."

Jarrett Named To Selective Service Post

William J. Jarrett, 2231 First Street Terrace, has been appointed by President L. B. Johnson to serve as a member of Selective Service Board 84 of Pettis County, according to a letter received by him from Maj. Gen. L. B. Adams Jr. state director of selective service.

Jarrett, will fill the position which was vacated by John Snodgrass who resigned recently.

With Jarrett's appointment to the local board, members now are: Dr. Thomas J. Hopkins, chairman; the Rev. Harry Purviance, and John M. Sneed, Sr. With the recent resignation of Aron R. Smith, the board now has one vacancy to fill to make the five member board complete. Board meetings are held monthly in the Selective Service office at the post office, for interviewing, classifying and reclassifying registrants.

Mrs. Verna E. Williams is clerk for the county board; Mrs. Juanita P. Woodrel is part-time assistant.

Reason Why Stars Spurn Awards Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the many stars missing from the Academy Awards bash on April 18 will be Tony Curtis. He frankly explains why.

Attendance by stars at the Oscar event has dwindled in late years to nominees, past winners and few other names who can be inveigled into acting as presenters. Most other stars stay away.

Why don't the stars turn out?

"I'll tell you why I won't," volunteered Tony Curtis. "It's because the Oscars are used to sell cookies and shampoo. I won't appear for the same reason I stay off all television: I don't want to be in the position of being used to sell cookies or shampoo.

"I know of 10 other stars who feel the same way. Oh, they may offer some phony excuse — they're going to be out of town or some damned thing. But the real reason is that the Oscar show is sponsored, so why should they lend their names to it?"

Curtis was unimpressed by the news that the Oscar cast is not selling cookies or shampoo this year but is sponsored by Eastman Kodak.

"I don't care who the sponsor is," he insisted. "Why should the motion picture industry have to go to strangers for charity? That's what it looks like when we allow our most important event to be used to sell other products.

"I have a better idea. Let the studios contribute $100,000 apiece and put the show on without any commercials. Just make the award presentations and show the world: This is our best work and we are proud of it."

Curtis pooh-poohed the suggestion that the film companies might be too poor to put on the Oscar show.

"Are you kidding? The studios are shoveling money. This is the only business in which the companies take the money out and don't put anything back in."

"Cary Grant told me how it used to be," he said. "The people in the business would rent the Cocoanut Grove for the night, and everybody would be there. It was like saying, 'Here, Spencer Tracy, here's an Oscar for doing the best acting this year.' Everyone would toast each other and go home happy. Why can't it be that way now?"

The Boys Club Junior basketball team won the traveling trophy by defeating the Whiteman AFB team for the second straight year. The score was 42 to 25 but the Seniors lost the Senior trophy to the Whiteman team, losing by a score of 58 to 40.

Failure to hit their free throws was costly to the losers. For the Juniors, Bentley, Branson, Lyles, Cole and Klover starred but all of the boys making the trip got into the game. Bentley and Cole led the scoring.

The boys enjoyed a meal at the base then were taken on a tour of a Minuteman launch control center.

The trip and games were arranged by Paul Klover representing the Sedalia boys Club and Captain Wayne Anderson of the 509th Strategic Missile Squadron.

Captain Anderson accompanied the boys on the tour along with Paul Klover, Palmer Nichols and Ben Townsend.

The following boys made the trip — Seniors: Monte Finley, Ron Schuster, Andy Staus, Raymond Maupin, David Dennis, Roy Poynter, Larry Vanderpool, Mike White, Ricky Burlingame, Greg Patmon, Zach Patmon, Dennis Johnson, and Howard Estill. Trip Turns Auto Worker Into Writer

DETROIT (AP) — They feared their daughter was going blind. So in 1955 Ray and Lela Gallagher set out to show young Lela B. "everything under the sun."

That first trip with their daughter to explore Michigan has lengthened into a journey of more than 410,000 miles, all inside the state.

And, while Lela B., now 14, has retained her vision through a series of operations and special training, the experience has turned Gallagher into a knowledgeable historian, writer, and maker of recordings.

This week Gallagher, a 36-year-old auto worker, finished his manuscript for a book about Michigan.

Everywhere the family went they took notes on what they visited. They lived in tents or a trailer and sometimes slept in their station wagon, a 1957 model with 178,000 miles on it.

The Gallaghers once put their notes from a trip in a sack and weighed it. It was 25 pounds. One series of ballad-like poems is set down on 67 feet of shelf paper.

Gallagher likes to sit down in the family's suburban Trenton home and recite them to Lela B. and his other children—three boys and another girl, aged 7 to 12.

It was in 1963 that the Gallaghers thought of writing a book and making records about the odd things they have learned.

This would include the story of Beaver Island where a man crowned himself king or the legend of how a pig fell into a pit and uncovered the copper vein that brought a wealth to the Upper Peninsula.

From then on, at least four nights a week, Gallagher worked through the night on the script for the records or wrote letters to various towns seeking information.

Gallagher has not marketed the records, but he has written to Gov. George Romney and the State Department of Education to find out whether the state could use them to tell school children about Michigan.

Senate To Decide Fate Of VP Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate over which Hubert H. Humphrey presides will decide the fate of a bill to provide an official residence for Humphrey and his successors as vice president.

By a partisan vote of 197 to 184, the House passed a bill Tuesday calling for expenditure of $750,000 to build a "little White House" on 10 acres of government-owned land on the grounds of the Naval Observatory.

Only six Republicans voted for the measure.

The Senate passed last year a bill to create a commission to study the need for a vice-presidential residence and report within 18 months its recommendations for a site.

The House measure would permit construction of the home in time for Humphrey to occupy it before his term expires in January 1969. He lives now in suburban Chevy Chase, Md.

There was no indication of how the Senate would react to the House proposal. But House supporters said they believe the Senate might accept the House version and send the bill to President Johnson who requested its enactment.

There was no argument against the premise that the vice president ought to have an official home paid for and maintained by the government.

But Republicans, led by Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said the timing was bad. With the administration calling for reductions in school milk, military housing and education program, Republicans said, Congress should not embark on any nonessential spending projects.

The House bill would merely authorize the General Services Administration to go ahead with construction and furnishing of the home. Separate legislation would be required to put up the money to do the job and to provide for maintenance and upkeep of the residence after it is built.

'Rover 1' Joins List Of Radio Designations

There's "M-1," "B 1 2 and 3" and "Car 1" and now "Rover 1" has joined the group. It's a situation that's designed to make every carefree canine in the city unhappy.

"Rover 1" is the designation given Dennis Rogers' vehicle, which on Tuesday was equipped with a two-way radio tied in with the Sedalia police frequency. Rogers is poundmaster.

"M-1" is the one motorcycle's designation on the police force, while "B 1, 2 and 3" designate the walkie-talkie equipped patrolmen who spot-check the city on foot. "Car 1" of course is the chief of police's car. Chief William Miller said Tuesday, "Rover 1" seemed the most appropos call signal under existing circumstances.

JuCo Bond Issue Bill Is Passed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill to let Missouri's public junior colleges issue revenue bonds to build dining, social and recreational facilities won approval Tuesday of a Senate committee.

The committee took no action on a controversial "shared time" bill to let pupils of private and parochial schools take some courses in public schools.

Instead, Sens. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, William B. Waters, D-Liberty, and Nelson B. Tinnin, D-Hornersville were designated a subcommittee for further study.

Questions from committee members indicated they were thinking about limiting the bill to allow handicapped or retarded children from private or parochial schools therapy and remedial training.

The bill ran into heated opposition from witnesses who charged it would break down the traditional separation of church and state.

The Rev. J.E. Hewlett, pastor of the Southwest Baptist Church in St. Louis, expressed this view as spokesman for Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

He said parochial schools have been chipping away at the barrier and the shared time plan would be another step.

He said it would relieve parochial schools of the cost of providing special and technical courses.

The bill also drew opposition from Jewish, Negro and Masonic spokesmen.

The Senate Judiciary Committee also deferred action on a bill that would allow a school tax levy to stay at its existing level if voters defeated a tax increase. Under present law, the rate reverts to the basic $1.25 levy.

A subcommittee was set up to study redrafting the proposed constitutional amendment.

Police investigation records show that Frank Williams, 608 West Pettis, reported the break-in at the Wiggle Inn, stating he believed it occurred around 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. Records state a glass pane in a door window had been broken out, allowing the door to be unlocked from the inside.

Items reported missing from Wiggle Inn included 70 pennies, candy, soft drink bottles, a box of cigars, cigarettes, four pairs of sun glasses and a portable record player, with a total value of $90.70.

Some of the items missing from the two vehicles were found at Wiggle Inn, Chief of Police William E. Miller said Wednesday morning.

Sullivan also complimented Palmer Nichols, director of the Sedalia Boys' Club, on the outstanding job he had done.

An artist's conception of the proposed new building to be erected was presented to the club by Maurice Hogan, who had drawn the illustration.

Estimated cost of the new building and outdoor recreation facilities is $175,000. John Brown distributed pledges of intent for Sedalia Boys' Club building to all in attendance. The pledges provide for monetary, material or service contributions. Any help will aid in defraying the cost which must be borne by the club.

Officers of the club who were introduced were Brown, president; Ralph Lee and Clinton Black, vice presidents; Mrs. W. C. Askew, secretary-treasurer; Jim Simon, building fund chairman; Bob Singleton, co-chairman; and Palmer Nichols, Boys' Club director.

It was emphasized that the new club will not be just for boys in Sedalia, but is a county facility, for use by all boys in Pettis County. Another provision will allow girls works organizations to use the club facilities two days per week. The new club will be staffed by a full-time director and assistants.

Jim Ripley served as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Annuals such as petunias and snapdragons provide quick cover when house is new. Many varieties have been introduced in the past few years.

Those who live in today's one-story, rambler style houses have a real challenge on their hands. Many of the shrubs used traditionally in the exterior decoration of homes are useless for them. Even when cut back to the heavy branches each year, in no time the house is overwhelmed by the forest along the foundation.

In Nader Probe

Bang Down Gavel On Case Of General Motors Caper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff listened to the private detective spin a Keystone Cops yarn and then looked with some sympathy toward the president of General Motors.

"I can imagine Mr. Roche is wondering why General Motors spent $6,700," said Ribicoff, chairman of the Senate Government Operations subcommittee.

For the $6,700 General Motors bought an investigation of Ralph Nader, young attorney and critic of auto safety, particularly of GM's Corvair—and put GM President James M. Roche in the position of apologizing twice to Nader and Ribicoff's subcommittee.

Roche apologized once before private investigator Vincent Gillen testified and then did it again after Gillen, hired by GM to carry out the investigation, had his say and crossed swords with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

The aim of the investigation, Roche said, was to gather information about Nader's background as an attorney and expert on safety and to learn whether he had any connection with some hundred lawsuits involving about $40 million in damage claims relating to the design of 1960 through 1963 Corvairs.

But before the investigation came to a halt Nader's personal life, his high school and college grades, his eating habits and sex life all came under the scrutiny of Gillen's private eyes in interviews with Nader's friends and associates and in a period of direct surveillance of him.

"To the extent that General Motors bears responsibility, I want to apologize here and now to the members of this subcommittee and Mr. Nader," said Roche.

Gillen, a man with wavy gray hair and black-framed glasses, expressed his thanks to the subcommittee for "this opportunity to inform you frankly and fully about the investigation of Ralph Nader. It involved no harassment; no intimidation; no attempt to defame; no following him around the country. No telephone harassment, no recordings, and no women."

Gillen drew laughter even from Roche as he told of some of his difficulties in trying to locate Nader, denied as "fantastic" that his gumshoes followed a reporter instead of Nader into a Senate Office Building and brushed off the fact that Capitol police had ordered them out of the building. But he offered his apologies to the Senate.

"That sort of thing can happen in any investigative organization," he said. "I am sure Sen. Kennedy knows this from his experience as attorney general when he was responsible for all government investigative agencies."

"I'm delighted you brought me in," said Kennedy.

The New York senator asked if Gillen wasn't actually carrying out a lie when in conducting the investigation he used the pretext that it was a pre-employment probe.

"Didn't that ever happen to you as attorney general?" asked Gillen.

"No, it didn't," said Kennedy.

The private investigator denied the investigation was, as Ribicoff contended, a smear or harassment of Nader, and Gillen complained, "I don't think it appropriate for me to come here and be smeared myself."

He said the effort of the investigation was to uncover every aspect of Nader's life that might be of value to the client.

But he was charged with showing a preoccupation with matters of sex in questioning of a friend of Nader.

The reason for this, Gillen said, was that Nader was labeled in a high school yearbook as a "girl hater" and the private investigator said that the issue had to be pursued out of "fairness to Ralph."

"What the hell's this fairness to Ralph?" demanded Kennedy. "You have to keep running around the country proving he's not antisemitic or not queer?. . . Ralph's doing all right."

But Gillen heatedly denied there was any effort to smear the young lawyer.

If he was smeared, the private investigators said, "he's been smeared by buying cookies and thinking women are trying to pick him up."

Among Nader's allegations of harassment after he wrote a book on auto safety and then appeared before the subcommittee last month was that two women had apparently tried to pick him up on two occasions when he was out shopping.

But Gillen said he had not "used any women during this investigation. I am sure fair-minded people will appreciate that it is as impossible for Mr. Nader to prove the alleged incidents occurred, as it is for me to disprove involvement if they did — the ladies are unknown."

Gillen pretty much pointed Roche back in the direction of the witness stand when he contended that a close reading of the GM president's apology was not really an apology at all.

"Let's get this clear," said Gillen, "Mr. Roche apologized if they happened, and they didn't happen."

Ribicoff and Kennedy said they didn't interpret Roche's remarks that way at all.

Ribicoff said he got the feeling that Roche was disturbed by the whole business and "sorry it happened."

Kennedy, looking out into the audience where Roche sat, asked if Ribicoff's was the correct interpretation of his statement.

Roche said that indeed that was the correct interpretation and furthermore asked a chance to return to the witness chair to clarify GM's position once more.

Roche said that "such errors will not happen again." He said it was not the policy of GM to investigate persons who write criticism of GM products and he said the big motor company hoped to earn the respect of its critics. He said he would take the responsibility for the actions and said he wanted to repeat his apology for the actions that Nader and the subcommittee complained about.

The subcommittee's members thanked Roche and commended him for his statement and with that Ribicoff banged down the gavel on the case of the General Motors caper.

See Atomic Beacons Marking All Oceans

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A nuclear scientist says expanded undersea exploration may be facilitated in the next 10 years by atomic beacons marking the oceans of the world.

Dr. B.I. Spinard of the Argonne National Laboratory told a meeting of the American Nuclear Society Tuesday night that nuclear-powered submarine freighters may ply undersea lanes marked with sonar beacons.

He said increased attention also is being given to space uses for nuclear power systems which "look extremely fruitful because of their reliability." Nuclear-powered rockets may be used to propel space stations and provide power for permanent space probes, he said.

TV Special Shows Two Comediennes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — In her CBS special program Tuesday night, Carol Burnett introduced guest star Lucille Ball as "my own personal idol." It was something of an occasion since it brought together two the nation's best-loved comediennes in a number of sketches that, for a change, had both point and bright lines.

But if Miss Burnett had watched a little more closely and worshiped a little less, Miss Ball's disciplined performance could have been a sort of object lesson.

Carol Burnett is a funny, uninhibited woman but she has a tendency to carry her clowning one fatal step beyond the funny into the grotesque. Miss Ball, also funny and uninhibited, knows exactly where to stop.

The sketch in which Carol and Zero Mostel played a bickering couple who had been wed 10 dreary years, was carefully built around the abrupt change in their attitude when they suddenly learned that they were not legally married after all. It would have been funnier if Carol's reaction had not been completely slapstick.

Best number of the hour had the two feminine stars playing a couple of cleaning women in a theatrical agency making big show biz deals and casting million-dollar movies based on snippets of information gleaned from executive wastebaskets.

Zero Mostel, a rare television visitor, never had a chance to demonstrate the talents that have made him a Broadway comedy favorite.

NBC's forthcoming series spin-off from "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." next season will have the next best thing to Rex Harrison playing one of Mr. Waverly's intrepid THRUSH fighters. It will be his son, Noel Harrison, a regular cast member. "The Girl From U.N.C.L.E." will have a beauty named Stefanie Powers in the title role.

To Dissect Lost Bomb 'Like a Fish'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The missing American hydrogen bomb will be dissected like a fish if the United States ever reels it up from the bottom of the sea off Spain.

Officials said today that once the bomb is recovered it will be dismantled and subjected to months — and some parts for years — of study.

This is to find out in all detail possible how the thermonuclear device was affected by an in-flight collision and months in the salt water of the Mediterranean.

The bomb was loosed when a U.S. B52 jet and its refueling tanker collided six miles above the coast of Spain Jan. 17. It drifted by parachute into the sea.

Miniature submarines have been trying to maneuver the bomb into a favorable position for recovery the past several days. Officials say it might be days or weeks before the bomb is surfaced.

Once in hand, the gray, tubular device will be taken to an unspecified base of the Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA), officials said. DASA builds the nation's nuclear hardware.

"You can rest assured it will get a thorough going-over," one spokesman said. "We bring nuclear bombs back to the shop if they're so much as scratched."

Dozens of experts will be called in for various examinations of the bomb's components. They have probed the intricacies of a few other nuclear weapons which were damaged in plane crashes or merely dented in transporting.

Getting into the bomb isn't a particularly complicated or ticklish matter. Its insides are bared by removal of bolted-on plates.

The scientists and technicians will be interested primarily in two things about the bomb: its safety features and structure.

Officials say that after all the poking and probing is through, the components probably will become little more than conversation pieces in scattered research labs.

Running Behind

DETROIT (AP) — New car sales by the big three — Ford, General Motors and Chrysler—ran slightly behind the 1965 pace in mid-March, according to preliminary sales figures.

The 1966 period had only eight selling days, one less than in 1965.

The big three said their mid-March sales were 231,576 cars, down from 262,872 in 1965.

All Cars Stuck

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — With most of its cars stuck as a snow and wind storm swept Omaha today, the police department asked the State Safety Patrol to help unravel a traffic jam on a main road in town.

The patrol, which has a troop stationed on the western edge of Omaha, replied:

"Sorry, we can't help you. Our cars are stuck too."

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — A December issue of the Joplin Globe addressed to Thomaston, Ga., missed a train somewhere and arrived in the state of Georgia in Turkey.

Two and a half months later in Thomaston, L.S. Baney got his paper — with a Turkish postmark and written instructions for routing it back to the United States.

Suspicious Entomologists

After an interlude of two years Sedalia is to have an official Cleanup Week by authorization of city council and proclamation of Mayor L. L. Studer.

Inspiration for renewal of this heretofore annual event came from Councilman R. S. Wells of the Sewer and Sanitation committee, seconded by Floyd Priddy. Dates established for it are March 28 - April 2.

The proclamation urges Sedalians to place unwanted items near alleys where employes of the city departments can pick them up. This service is supplemental to the regular garbage pickup.

Some Sedalians wish that by legerdemain the city cleanup squad could pick up especially unwanted items such as so-called entomology experts. These fellows come from foreign parts to exert clever sales pressure on local property owners, widows in particular, about the hazards of Termes.

Transients seem to exercise a sort of hypnosis over prospects they call on. They can almost make a person believe there are billions of white ants chewing up their residential timbers like a buzz saw.

Termite salesmen come with spring weather and work right through the summer. Property owners are persuaded to pay these out-of-town men exorbitant prices. Already one has complained of paying $1,000, another $500 only to discover later they had their legs pulled.

Surpassing strange is the guillibility of Sedalians and area property owners who have been warned repeatedly year after year to be cautious when hiring termite eliminators.

Trustworthy firms which operate locally supply their men with credentials that can be checked out through the Chamber of Commerce. This seems to be slight effort when a fee of $1,000 or $500 is involved. Rarely does a property owner have to go in that deep to rid his premises of the wood chewing white ants.

Any time a transient firm charges big fees they are putting on a cleanup week of their own to the distress of local people who cannot afford to be bilked in this manner.

To avoid such misfortune area residents need to be alert the next time entomologists come knocking at the door without credentials. These men can be checked out by the expenditure of just a mite of inquisitive effort.

ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL: For the Birds. —Officials at a Milwaukee airport are using treated grain in an effort to hold down the gull population that has been endangering aircraft. Gulls apparently are attracted by nearby dump sites and in flight have damaged several planes. One bird was ingested by a jet engine—ruining both gull and engine.

The treated grain being used in the depopulating effort isn't poisonous. It has an inebriating effect that causes gulls to send out distress calls which cause other birds to stay away.

Apparently gulls, like people, prefer to avoid drunks.

Happy Landing

At the same time as the negative side of the Gemini-8 mission—just what went wrong with the capsule—becomes clearer, its positive accomplishments begin to stand out, too.

No one can feel keener disappointment over the cutting short of the flight than the two astronauts, Neil Armstrong and Maj. David Scott—particularly the latter, who was scheduled to take the first round-the-world space "walk."

But the two men can take pride in the fact that before the trouble developed they performed the first physical coupling of two separately orbiting vehicles, a vital milestone on this nation's path to the moon.

And they are undoubtedly pretty happy—like a couple hundred million other people—that they managed the first emergency landing of a disabled capsule. If, as the airplane pilots say, any landing you can walk away from is a good landing, no space flight you come back from safe and sound is a failure.

Americans can feel a new confidence in the caliber of their astronauts and of the unsung slide-rule boys on the ground who plucked them down with such precision.

The worst could have happened, but it didn't. That it didn't happen this time makes it less likely that it will happen on a subsequent flight.

In a way, this is better proof of the solid strength of our space program, and a better augur of its future success, than a routinely completed Gemini - 8 mission would have been.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Members of the Sedalia Country Club held their biennial meeting and re-elected five members of the board of managers as follows: T. W. Cloney II, William R. Courtney, Harold Dean, W. M. Johns and Philip McLaughlin. Officers elected are: President, John T. Martin; Vice-President, Edwin F. Hausam, Jr.; and Treasurer, W. M. Johns.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Fifty residents of Green Ridge and vicinity met at the Green Ridge High school and organized a Chamber of Commerce, electing the following officers: President, W. T. Brim; Vice-President, George Kyd; Secretary, C. A. Wisdom; Treasurer, Fred Ream. One of the projects of the new organization will be support of good roads in the community and other civic matters.

Herman Hall reported to the police that about 2:30 o'clock in the morning his Buick six roadster was stolen from in front of his home, 409 West Seventh street. It was found undamaged that afternoon about a mile and a half west of Sedalia on the Sixteenth street road.

Summer Note

Summer resort hotels are getting competition from the Army. It is a little-known fact, and a surprising one as well that the Army hired more than 20,000 civilians for summer jobs last year. There are as many, maybe even more, such opportunities for work at Army installations for the coming summer.

Applicants must write Civil Service in Washington and qualify for civil service grades by pasing an examination, then apply after April 15.

No China Troops Wanted In Viet Nam

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — The general had been responsible for a range of guerrilla operations in South China and North Indochina in the war against Japan.

At the end, he'd had the job of seeing that the Japanese troops in North Viet Nam were disarmed and sent home.

In this, he negotiated with Ho Chi Minh, whose guerrillas operated in the area.

The American general said: "I wanted to send in two Chinese divisions to disarm the Japanese.

"But at that, Ho exploded. He told me he didn't want any Chinese divisions in his country. He insisted they'd never leave.

"So I made a compromise proposal. If Ho would agree to the two Chinese divisions, I'd personally guarantee they left on schedule.

"That's the deal we made. After the disarming, I saw to it the Chinese got on board ships I had ready."

Later, some of us were talking to another American general just back from Viet Nam. "Why isn't Chiang Kai-shek furnishing troops for the Viet Nam war," one man asked. "We turned him down in Korea — now here, too?"

"No," said the general. "The simple fact is the prime minister (of South Viet Nam) doesn't want Chinese troops in the country, even to fight for the south. He said the people wouldn't stand for it."

The first records on the Viets in the Red River Delta were written by the Chinese after they conquered the area in 111 B.C.

Two sisters led an uprising that threw out the Chinese in A.D. 39. The invaders reconquered the country five years later with harsh suppression.

Revolts against the Chinese were frequent during the next 900 years. But it wasn't until A.D. 938 that the Viets were able to drive them out. For almost seven centuries after that the Vietnamese fought off repeated Chinese invasions.

In 1406 the Chinese again took over the country. Their oppressions brought hatred. They were thrown out in 1427 after a 10-year guerrilla war.

The Chinese, who considered the Viets to be their "vassals," continued their invasions off and on until the French took over.

This history isn't evidence Mao Tse-tung won't ever send his divisions into Viet Nam.

It's not proof Ho's ruling group won't get desperate enough to ask for Red Chinese troops.

But it does indicate that if Mao's Red Chinese came into Viet Nam in numbers, a violent anti-Chinese underground would grow fast, in both North and South Viet Nam — directed against the "invaders" and against the government that brought them in.

The World Today

No Magnification of Meany's Words

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is not the man to magnify in public any differences with individuals or groups so long as he thinks there may be a chance to persuade them to return to camp.

This does much to explain Johnson's easy manner Tuesday when a girl reporter at an impromptu news conference asked about the recent statement of George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

Meany had said in the future the huge labor organization would not be allied with either Democrats or Republicans. Johnson told the questioner she was apparently more distressed about this than he was.

But there was something Johnson could hardly forget even as he tried to make the best of an unhappy situation by saying that in his view the AFL-CIO has always been independent and should be.

The labor organization backed him in the 1964 presidential race and the AFL-CIO backed Democratic presidential candidates in election after election for years.

The AFL-CIO support is a very big and important help to the Democrats.

But now it is irritated with the Democrats and Meany is disenchanted with them, as he explained in a very emphatic and biting way. It was enough to give Democrats some chills about this year's congressional elections.

Meany blasted the Democrats for failing to deliver on promises and laid down political independence as a goal for the AFL-CIO although it has backed the Democratic party for more than a generation.

"It is quite obvious," he said, "that if we are looking around for a party to adopt and control that we don't want the Democratic party because they can't deliver.

"So we can't buy either party. We don't work for any political party, whether it is Republican, Democrat, or anything else."

In recent years, besides 1964, the AFL-CIO endorsed the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, 1956 and 1960.

But Meany suggested labor return to the policy of one of its early leaders, Samuel Gompers: supporting individual candidates on their voting records, regardless of party, rather than political parties.

More

At the moment labor has two big gripes:

1. That the Johnson administration didn't work hard enough to break the Senate filibuster which killed labor's attempt to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. This section lets states outlaw the union shop.

But Meany noted that the one who led the filibuster to keep section 14B in the law was the Republicans' Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Meany called him the "new darling of the conservatives."

2. The attempt by the Johnson administration to limit wage increases to 3.2 per cent, which was the figure set down as a guideline by the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

There has been some talk within labor's ranks of setting up a labor party in this country but Meany wants no part of that, saying a third party is not the solution.

If the Johnson administration figured it had the AFL-CIO in its pocket, the Meany statement may disillusion it a bit and — this may have been Meany's purpose — scare it into paying more attention to labor's demands.

What the administration does from now on to satisfy labor will be more revealing than the President's easy, casual comment Tuesday.

Check for Power Failure

Polly

DEAR POLLY— When I am going on a trip or will be away from home for a time, I am always afraid the power will go off and foods will thaw in the freezer. So that I will know if this has happened, I fill a plastic pill bottle half-full of water, freeze it and turn it upside down in the freezing space in my refrigerator. On my return home I check this bottle. If the ice has slipped out, the power has been off.—B.T.C.

DEAR POLLY — I do not like to iron draperies made of double widths nor do I like to sew or baste them together and then have to rip each time they are laundered or cleaned. I use single widths, hold the inner edges together and turn them toward the windows. Affix large paper clips to these inner joinings, both top and bottom. If paper clips are not available, bobby pins or hair clips will do just as well. The draperies hang beautifully and you bypass a tedious job. — MRS. N. J. M.

GIRLS — I have single-width draperies hanging all across one dining room wall and window. I use plain straight pins, slipped up and down, in several places along the joining of widths to hold them together and in place. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When I go to the supermarket, I always put one or two plastic bags in my purse. When I buy a cutup chicken or any meat that might drip, I slip it in one of these bags when I pick it up. The checker can see the price through the plastic. Just last week she said to me, "I wish everyone would do that. Why don't you send it in for a Polly's Pointer?" — HAZEL

DEAR POLLY — When I put anything that has a zipper in the washing machine, I put a safety pin through the hole of the tab that pulls the zipper up and down. I close the zipper and then push the pin through the material, too. That way the zipper does not come open and get ruined during the washing.

We the Women

Man's View of Feimale

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I wonder if American women realize how unattractive their public personalities are," wrote a man who reads this column.

Then he goes on to describe just what he is talking about: "A woman blocks a supermarket aisle with her shopping cart and if, after waiting a few moments for her to move it to let you by, you push it out of the way yourself, she glares at you instead of saying contritely, 'I'm sorry.'

Millett

"A man holds a heavy door for a woman he has never seen before and, instead of thanking him, she pushes on through without a word or backward glance.

"Hop up at a party to light a cigarette for a woman and the odds on whether or not she will say 'Thank you' are about even.

"Tap your horn to let a woman who is double parked know she is blocking traffic and she turns around and glares at you with a look that could kill.

"And women who are marketing think nothing of holding up a line at the check-out counter to run back for some item they just happened to think of while they were being checked out.

"In stores they paw over the merchandise, just for the fun of looking, leaving some poor clerk to have to put it all back in neat piles. Often the 'looker' doesn't even bother to answer the clerk who asks politely, 'May I help you?' but walks away looking annoyed.

"What's happening to women? Don't they realize how unattractive they are when they exhibit such bad manners in public?"

Obviously many women don't. So, thank you for your reminder. Coming from a man, it may make an impression. Because what woman in her right mind wants a man — any man — to find her unattractive?

Oswald points out to Jim that deliberate failure by third hand to play a high card, not necessarily the highest, but some high card, is known as finessing against your partner and is one of the more expensive bad habits a player can acquire.

Jim: "You are so very right. Still there are a few instances when you should play low. One of the most frequent occurs when you know that your partner has opened the top of nothing and you can hang onto your high card with full knowledge that it will do absolutely no good to play it."

Oswald: "Today's hand is a good illustration of this type of play. South is in a good four spade contract because he will make it if trumps break, irrespective of the location of the king of diamonds."

Jim: "West has no satisfactory lead anywhere. In such circumstances a doubleton lead is not apt to do any harm and may do some good. Anyway, he does open the eight of diamonds. Declarer will surely cover with one of dummy's higher cards, probably with the queen. He wants to do his best to get East to play the king if he holds it."

Oswald: "It should be just as easy for East to play low in this spot as if he were looking at all the cards. The eight could not be second best and no one leads away from an ace-jack combination against a suit contract."

Jim: "If East plays low South goes down one. He is unlucky to have to lose a trump trick and he also must lose two clubs and a spade. If East rises with his king declarer makes four diamond tricks instead of three and is able to discard his losing spade on the fourth diamond.

Q's and A's On Tax Matters

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — What about political contributions. Are they deductible?

A — No. The law does not permit deductions for contributions to political parties.

Q — My wife's salary came to only a few hundred dollars last year. Does she have to file a return on this income?

A—A return is not required if income is less than $600. However, if you and your wife file a joint return all her income must be reported on the return. Also, if income tax has been withheld from her pay, she would have to file a return to get a refund of the amount withheld.

Q — I'm moving next month and I have a refund coming. Should I put my new address on the return?

A — Yes, use your new address. One of the major reasons for delay in receiving refund is that we do not have the correct address. Put your old address in the space provided on the return, just below the block for name and address.

Q — Can I deduct the Federal tax I pay on my phone bill?

A — No. This is an excise tax and is not deductible.

Q — Who is liable for tax on interest on savings bonds bought for a child?

A — It depends on how the bonds are registered. If the child is listed as co-owner on the bond, the purchaser is liable for tax on the interest. If the child is sole owner with the parent as beneficiary, the child assumes the tax liability

Q — I use my car for business. What may I deduct per mile?

A — You may deduct 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and 7 cents a mile thereafter in lieu of actual expenses and depreciation. Check your 1040 instructions to be sure you qualify for this deduction.

If you do qualify, a speedometer reading at the beginning and end of each business trip will establish the amount you can deduct. Tolls and parking fees are deductible in addition to the mileage allowance.

Skeptical Of Faubus' Intentions

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) Prominent Arkansas Democrats, some openly skeptical of Gov. Orval Faubus' announced intentions, hesitated Tuesday to jump into the race despite the governor's professed reluctance to run for a seven term.

Faubus said he wouldn't run unless the party fails to field formidable opposition for Winthrop Rockefeller, the likely Republican candidate.

In Pine Mountain, Ga., where he is attending a school for candidates, Rockefeller said in an interview that without Faubus in the race "I see no formidable opposition any way you slice it."

Faubus told a news conference Tuesday that half a dozen Democrats who have been mentioned would qualify as formidable opposition.

He refused to name any.

Most of those who have been mentioned wanted a few days to assess the situation before revealing their plans.

One is Jim Johnson, associate justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court.

"I'll believe it when the ticket closes," Johnson said of the Faubus statement.

Twice Faubus has pulled out of governor's races only to re-enter and win.

His sternest critics in recent months have been those who charge him with one-man rule of the party.

Faubus told newsmen the potential Democratic candidates should stop worrying about whether he'll change his mind.

"The fellow that's not capable of dealing with a cliff-hanging situation might not be the best man to be governor," Faubus said.

Cohen Wins His Suit Against US

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Former gambler Mickey Cohen has won a $110,000 suit against the federal government.

His contention that the government was negligent in supervising the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary inmate who clubbed Cohen with a length of pipe in 1963 was upheld Monday by a U.S. District Court judge.

Cohen, 51, is serving a 15-year term for income tax evasion. U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney O. Smith Jr. made the award.

Legal sources said it apparently was the first case of this type — involving a prisoner assault — in which the government has been found negligent and damages assessed.

The lawsuit was filed under a 1963 Supreme Court decision making it possible for a prison inmate to sue the government under the Tort Claims Act. But the controlling case itself, reversed by the tribunal, has not been finally decided.

Cohen, who is eligible for parole this summer, had sought $10 million from the government chargin that he suffered paralysis of the left side, a skull fracture and brain damage.

The judge, who heard testimony without a jury Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, ruled that the penitentiary was negligent in its supervision of Berl Estes McDonald, the inmate who attacked Cohen the night of Aug. 14, 1963, in the prison electrical shop.

Smith said the prisoner should not have been allowed to escape.

"Having made the proper decision to place McDonald in maximum segregation, the government was bound to take the necessary steps to enforce that decision," Smith said. "In this respect it failed."

Smith said penitentiary authorities had placed McDonald in maximum security after he was involved in other assaults. McDonald, then 35, was serving two 10-year terms for forgery and assault with intent to murder. He was adjudged incapable of standing trial for attacking Cohen.

The judge said he determined the amount of the award in consideration of the permanent injury. He said that Cohen, who still is in the medical center at Springfield, Mo., has reached optimum recovery and his disability has been placed at 50 per cent minimum by specialists. Cohen will be lame and crippled for life, Smith said.

Cohen, 49 at the time of the assault, had been in the Atlanta Prison about seven months, having been transferred from Alcatraz when that prison was closed. His full name is Meyer Harris Cohen.

The ex-gambler was convicted about five years ago of evading approximately $200,000 in income taxes.

Authorities said Cohen and McDonald had not known each other outside the prison and the motive for the assault was unclear.

SAN FRANCISCO — Chai-Ming Liu, 17, who claims he escaped from Communist China to avoid being shot for underground activities faced the prospect of being deported from the United States, where he hoped to "enjoy freedom." An unidentified FBI agent escorts Liu from the vicinity of the luxury liner President Wilson, which he boarded in Hong Kong as a stowaway. (UPI)

TAIPEI, Formosa — Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek, right, who was re-elected to a fourth term, watches a demonstration of U.S. naval air power aboard the nuclear carrier U.S.S. Enterprise at sea. At left is Vice Admiral U.S. Grant Sharp, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific. In addition to his re-election, the 78-year-old Chiang was given broad new powers to reshape the Nationalist government. (UPI)

Nevada Woman Dies In Truck-Car Crash

NEVADA, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Maude Vass, 79, of Nevada was killed Tuesday in a truck-car collision in Nevada.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Muriel Darnold, 58, of Rt. 4, Coffeyville, Kan., who was injured slightly. Aslo in the car were Mrs. Darnold's daughter, Mrs. Donna Spence, 30, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Spence's two small children.

The driver of the truck, Henry Donald Koehler of Mount Vernon, Mo., told police the Darnold car made a turn and he was unable to stop in time.

The Cat Wows Fans In Sedalia

Ernie "The Cat" Ladd, the San Diego Chargers defensive tackle, appeared before Sedalia's wrestling fans, Tuesday night, and pleased the ringsiders to no end. The six foot-nine 315 pound football player who joins the wrestling circuit during the winter months, bounced his opponents around like rubber balls, and with his team mate Pat O'Connor, 226, enjoyed winning their team tag match.

They defeated The Viking, 240, and Tor Kamata, 250, only after their ire came up when Tor used his Japanese jab and Viking his thumb punch on both Ladd and O'Connor. Viking overpowered O'Connor for the first fall with body slams and crush in 20 minutes and 30 seconds.

O'Connor came back in the second period and after seven minutes and 50 seconds during which time they changed operations in the ring, to grab the Viking, bounced him off the ropes and rolled the Viking to the mat with a reverse shoulder press to win.

Ladd just about crushed Tor for the third fall when he bounced him around, slammed him to the mat and then fell full weight on the Japanese for a press to win after four minutes and 30 seconds.

The big football player who is exceptionally well built and proportioned is every bit a gentleman and his mannerism in the ring quickly won favor with the ringsiders.

"I hope to bring him back to Sedalia so all the fans can see and meet him," Promoter Gust Karras, said after the matches. "He is a fine young man, and excellent to work with," Karras remarked.

In the semi-final event of two falls out of three between Jerry Kozak and Bobby Shane, proved to be an interesting match. The two well trained wrestlers worked hard during those three falls, and Kozak soon had the fans on his side, although Shane has had a great following here over the past few weeks. Kozak was the winner of the event, taking the first fall in 18 minutes with an airplane spin and press, won the third fall with a reverse shoulder press in five minutes and 55 seconds. Shane won the second fall in seven minutes and 40 seconds also using the reverse shoulder press.

The opening event on the card, a one-fall, 30-minute time limit match went to Lee "Bulldog" Henning over Jim Wehba, 246, of Suria. Henning using a pile driver and press won the fall in 13 minutes and 20 seconds.

Next week, The Stomper meets Bob Giegel in a death match, which should prove interesting to the hungry fans for the real tough going matches.

Miller Brothers Only Defenders

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The stubby little Miller brothers of Fairview, Mont., are the only defending champions left going into quarter-finals of the 39th National Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament tonight.

Two defending national champs from Detroit, middleweight Al Jones and light heavyweight Larry Charleston, were ousted in the second round Tuesday night.

Clay Hodges, heir-apparent to Jerry Quarry's heavyweight crown, helped Los Angeles to the early lead in defense of its team title with an easy first round TKO.

Louisville's gifted Marcus Anderson, a two-time Gloves featherweight champion, is seeking the 135 crown this time. His quarter-final foe will be Tony Drake of Omaha, runner-up last year. Another top 135 fight matches Joe Epsinosa of Salt Lake City with Ronald Coleman of St. Louis.

Rolland Miller, a member of the Minneapolis team, takes on Roland Olivares of Fort Worth in a flyweight bout. Earl Large of Roswell, N.M., runner-up last year, faces Carl Evans of Indianapolis.

Mel Miller, the 118 champ, is a member of the Billings, Mont., team. A top threat to his crown is Cincinnati's John North, national AAU runner-up last year.

A crowd of 4,500 watched 66 bouts involving the four heaviest classes Tuesday night. The thing was clear — talent is overflowing in the 147 and 160-pound classes and above last year in 175 and heavyweight.

The welters include Hedgeman Lewis of Detroit, national AAU champ, and James Pars of Cleveland, 1965 Gloves runner-up who beat Lewis in the semifinals. Also, bald-headed Jim Neill of Buffalo, the welter champ of Ireland.

The middleweight class is tougher because of Salt Lake City's Joe Hopkins, runner-up to Charleston for the 175 crown last year, and William Douglas Jr., a 175 quarter-finalist last year. Douglas decked defending champ Jones three times with a hard right for a second round TKO.

Richard Steele of Los Angeles beat Charleston with a strong finish in their gruelling battle. Steele and the defending champ were even until then.

A pair of top heavyweight bouts tonight match Phillip Smith of Huntington with Edward Brooks of Milwaukee and Alvin Lewis of Detroit against James Howard of Buffalo.

Tonight's 32-bout card, all in one ring, will eliminate 32 men, leaving 32 for the semifinals and finals Friday — four in each of eight classes. Thursday is a day of rest.

Milwaukee was awarded the 1967 national tourney on Clarence Kenney's top bid. Cleveland's John Nagy was elected Gloves president.

Shaw Only Holdout For SF Giants

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) —Juan Marichal's acceptance of an estimated $70,000 to pitch for the San Francisco Giants this year leaves his fellow hurler Bob Shaw the club's only holdout today.

The 27-year-old right-hander from the Dominican Republic followed Cincinnati's Jim Maloney by just one day in agreeing to terms when he accepted an offer via telephone from Giants' vice-president Chub Feeney on Tuesday.

Still holding out, however, were world champion Los Angeles Dodgers aces, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

Shaw, who posted a 16-9 record last year, has asked $50,000. The Giants' offer is believed about $43,000.

Marichal, the only major league hurler to win 20 or more games each of the past three years, accepted an offer apparently midway between the $80,000 he asked and the $60,000 he received last year when he posted a 22-13 record with 2.13 earned-run-average.

Playoffs Still Wait For Hawks

NEW YORK (AP) — The old standards were played on the organ as always. And out on the court three other old standbys also played — for the last time in Madison Square Garden.

But for player-coach Richie Guerin and Cliff Hagan of the St. Louis Hawks there still are the National Basketball Association playoffs before they finish their careers.

For Tom Gola of the New York Knickerbockers it was the end — the end of a brilliant individual chapter in basketball, one which saw the Philadelphia native make All-America three times in LaSalle, play on the NBA championship team and be named to five NBA All-Star teams.

Gola may be walking away from basketball but not from competition — he is seeking election as a Pennsylvania state representative on the Republican ticket.

"It's not bad now," the 10-year pro veteran said Tuesday night when asked how he felt, knowing that he had played his last game. The Knicks, last in the East, beat the Hawks 126-125 in the final regular season NBA game with rookie Dick Van Arsdale scoring 24 points and getting the key basket that put the Knicks ahead to stay, 122-121.

"When I first had to make up my mind to quit, I felt sad about it.

"I think the early years are the most exciting of a man's career," Gola continued. "As the years go on it becomes a job. Mentally it's tougher than physically. You can go out there and run around, but you don't get up for a game like you used to."

If the later years weren't too much fun for Gola, the early ones must have been a ball.

After guiding LaSalle to the NCAA championship as a junior in 1954, he joined the old Philadelphia Warriors for the 1955-56 season, and they won the NBA title — no one but the Boston Celtics has won one since.

Known more as a playmaker and a defensive player Gola was picked for an All-Star game for the first time in 1960 and followed that up by being chosen in the next four years.

One Out Away

Rosy Future Seems To Await Pitcher

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Denny McLain was just one out away. Jim Bouton still has a long way to go.

McLain, a hard-throwing Detroit right-hander, worked 8 2-3 innings — longest stint by a pitcher this spring — as the Tigers mauled the New York Yankees 7-4 Tuesday for their sixth straight exhibition victory.

Bouton, a troubled Yankee right-hander, worked three innings and took his third straight pounding. He yielded all seven Detroit runs, including a grand-slam homer by Willie Horton and bases-empty blasts by Don Demeter and Al Kaline.

McLain, a week short of his 22nd birthday, is coming off a 16-6 season and his future is rosy. Bouton, 27, is fighting for a job after last year's 4-15 collapse — and running out of tomorrows. Tuesday's drubbing rocketed his earned run average for the spring to 11.70.

Bobby Wine, Philadelphia's light-hitting shortstop, collected his first hit of the spring, a 12th-inning homer that gave the Phillies a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

California crushed Cleveland 11-0; Atlanta edged Kansas City 4-3; Houston topped Pittsburgh 5-3 St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 6-4; Washington nipped Boston 8-7; Baltimore beat the New York Mets 5-3; the Chicago White Sox downed Minnesota 5-4 in 10 innings, and the Chicago Cubs trimmed San Francisco 4-2.

McLain gave up a lead-off homer to Roy White in the first inning and then stopped the Yankees until the ninth. Two singles and two walks forced a run across and McLain gave way to Dave Wickersham, who walked another two runs in before getting Roger Maris on a bases-loaded fly for the last out.

Horton unloaded on Bouton in the first inning and Demeter followed with his solo shot. Kaline connected in the third, the sixth homer given up by Bouton in 10 innings.

Claude Osteen, ace of the Dodgers' staff in the absence of Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, blanked Philadelphia for six innings while Al Ferrara's two-run homer sent the world champions in front 2-0.

The Phils tied it in the seventh when Rich Allen and Jackie Brandt homered off Howie Reed. Wine's homer in the 12th saddled the Dodgers with their eighth loss in 10 starts.

Contest Will Of Deceased Millionaire

PHILLIPSBURG, Kan. (AP)—Dane G. Hansen was of sound mind and memory when he signed a will at the Norton County Hospital in Norton, Kan. on Nov. 2, 1964, a witness testified Tuesday.

Mrs. Gladys N. Anderson was a registered nurse at the hospital and she said she witnessed the signing of the will by Hansen, who died two months later of cancer of the pancreas.

Also witnesses to the signing were Mrs. Luda Bennett, a medical records clerk at the hospital and Dr. A. E. Cooper of the staff. Mrs. Bennett supported Mrs. Anderson's testimony Dr. Cooper was expected to testify today.

The will of the Logan, Kan., millionaire is being contested by a nephew, George T. Hansen Jr. of Salt Lake City. He contends his uncle was not competent, by reason of his illness, to understand the nature and extent of his properties.

Hansen was 82 and left an estate valued at nearly $9 million. His will set up a family trust of $1 million, and the residue was given into a foundation for charitable, educational and scientific purposes.

George Hansen, who is president of the Hyland Oil Corp. of Salt Lake City, was left $10,000.

The younger Hansen also charges three trustees of the trust and foundation used undue influence on his uncle.

The trustees are Oscar F. Belin, Wichita lawyer; Ralph E. Reitz, Salina accountant, and James W. Baird, Logan banker.

Belin is a member of the firm which had handled much of Hansen's legal work since '51. Reitz had done much of Hansen's accounting work. Baird and Hansen were principle owners of the First National Bank of Logan.

Hansen, a bachelor, accumulated his wealth in diverse fields but principally as an oil producer and highway and bridge contractor.

Two Women, Roommates, Found Slain

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Two young women employes of a gas company and roommates, were found slain Tuesday, about 12 hours apart, the coroner's office reported. Both had been stabbed and shot.

The body of Miss Judith Ann Greening, 22, a clerk-stenographer, was found lying face down in a ditch along a black top country road about three miles south of Quincy Tuesday morning.

The body of Miss Donetta Pickens, 19, also a clerk-stenographer for a propane gas firm, was found Tuesday night in the trunk of her automobile in a residential section of Quincy. The car was found about a half mile from the girls' apartment where they had last been seen alive at 7 p. m. Monday, said Don Adams, state's attorney of Adams County.

County Coroner Gerald Points said both girls had been stabbed several times and both had been wounded by shotgun blasts. Points said there appeared to be no indication of sexual assault on the victims, both of whom were found fully clothed. He said both girls were slain about 11 p. m. Monday.

Reject Plans Of Immediate Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has firmly rejected suggestions for an immediate tax increase as a hedge against inflation.

But he left the door open for a possible tax boost later if his administration feels it is needed.

"We don't want to act prematurely," Johnson told a news conference Tuesday. "We don't want to put the brakes too fast."

Johnson cited signs of a slowdown in the economy — including a 17 per cent drop in housing starts during February — and said the administration wants to assess the effects of the recently signed tax measure before taking any new anti-inflationary steps.

This measure, designed to raise about $6 billion over the next 15 months, reimposed excise taxes which were reduced last Jan. 1, and will speed collections of corporate and personal income taxes.

In the impromptu news conference in his office, Johnson also:

— Named Robert W. Komer, formerly deputy special assistant to the president, as a special assistant on nonmilitary matters in Viet Nam. He will direct policies in such fields as education, medical care and social and economic reform.

— Said the United States is anxious for more contacts and exchanges with Red China but this won't occur until China's attitude changes.

—Remarked that the AFL-CIO has always been independent and should be. He was asked about the recent statements of George Meany, the AFL-CIO president, that the labor organization would ally itself in the future with neither major party.

— Called amusing claims of Republican leaders that the GOP will make big gains in the November congressional election. The President said he would give his advice in the election campaign if it were solicited but he has no fixed dates for any campaigning.

— Announced that Ambassador John A. Gronouski, former postmaster general, will return to the United States from Warsaw within the next several weeks for consultation.

— Said he had no new information on the military situation in Viet Nam but that American forces are doing a good job there and morale is high.

WASHINGTON — A new teen-age fad sweeping the nation has fathers who saw action in World War II cringing. Selling briskly in Department stores here and other parts of the country are replicas of Germany's iron cross military decoration. Displaying two of the necklaces is Jane Ribble of Riverdale, Md. The start of the fad was traced to the West Coast where the members of the Hells Angels Motorcycle Club used them to decorate leather jackets. (UPI)

Atom Smasher Site Dream True for One of Six Areas

NEW YORK (AP) — Selection as one of six possible sites for a proposed $375-million atom smasher should be a Chamber of Commerce dream come true.

And it is for all but one of the finalists, South Barrington, Ill., near Chicago, where the people wish the federal facility would go somewhere else.

Arthur Hogfelt, the village president, said: "We moved out for privacy and fresh air and that's about it. We don't want to move. You might say they're purely selfish reasons — but what else is there?"

The other finalists, including Weston, Ill., an alternate to South Barrington, are actively seeking the atom smasher. "It's the scientific plum of the century," said Arthur Theriault, president of Weston Village, which is 15 miles away from South Barrington.

A site selection committee of the National Academy of Sciences recommended six spots in six states Tuesday as possible locations for the 200-billion-electron-volt — BEV — accelerator designed to probe nature's innermost secrets.

In alphabetical order, they are: Ann Arbor, Mich.; Brookhaven National Laboratory at Upton, Long Island, N.Y.; Denver, Colo.; Madison, Wis.; the Sierra foothills 20 miles east of Sacramento, Calif.; and South Barrington (or Weston), Ill.

Congress has not approved construction of the atom smasher, but if and when it does, it will be the world's largest and it will be the costliest single scientific installation ever built.

A hundred communities had sought the facility, which would cost $60 million a year to run and would bring in 2,400 resident scientists. The lobbying for selection was almost unprecedented.

The final selection will be up to the Atomic Energy Commission.

At least two state legislatures are ready to meet to enhance their state's effort to get the facility. The Wisconsin Legislature, which meets in May, is reported ready to adopt whatever legislation may be necessary. It already has pledged up to $10 million in state funds to make any site mprovements required by the AEC.

Gene Graves, director of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development, said in Springfield that Gov. Otto Kerner will call a special session of the legislature if one of the Illinois sites is selected so that money can be appropriated to buy land to donate.

Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, said he was "very pleased" that Ann Arbor was among the finalists. The presence of the accelerator, he said, would be "highly significant to education, science and research."

Ann Arbor Mayor Wendell Hulcher said he saw it as a mixed blessing that would bring a great economic influx to the community — and problems. "Some of our folks have not been particularly anxious to have it," he said, "but on the other hand it also has broad general support."

At Brookhaven Laboratory, 65 miles east of New York City, a spokesman said, "There is no jubilation here. The laboratory feels it should be one of the logical sites for the accelerator."

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado said the selection of the Denver site "was most gratifying. We will continue to emphasize all of the unique advantages we offer and we are confident that our case will be sufficiently persuasive to turn the tide in our favor."

Gov. Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin sounded a word of caution: "There is a long road to travel before this becomes a reality."

In California, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said selection of the Sierra foothills site pleased him, "but I am not surprised." He said California is a world leader in science and technology because of the heavy investment in higher education.

'Containers' Is Subject For Garden Clubs' Meets

Sedalia Garden Clubs met Friday, March 12. Announcements were made of the Plant and Bake Sale to be held April 27 at 9 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Leonard Hall, 1011 Thompson Blvd., and the Flower Show which will be held at the Thompson Hills Mall May 21. The theme of the Friday meeting was: "Containers — Old and New Favorites" and the meeting places were as follows:

Garden Club No. 2, met at Flat Creek for a dessert luncheon with Mrs. C. E. Belden and Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom as hostesses.

Mrs. Fred Lange, president, presided over the meeting and 28 members answered roll call.

Mrs. Herbert Seifert spoke briefly on the classifications and arrangements of flowers for this show.

Mrs. Ray Lippard had the topic of the day and had on exhibit many and varied containers explaining how best to use each container.

Be individual she advised, be different, using anything that strikes the fancy. Be daring, she said but never use a container that detracts from the flower or a flower that detracts from the container. She stated that one should be cautious in using brass and always a glass insert should be used with brass or silver. Also use a smaller glass container inside a large container. Flower and candles are good companions and foot containers are always attractive. Real large containers are best on the floor, for example, a large brass parasol holder.

Mrs. Cledith Pfeiffer, member of Garden Club 2, was honored recently, Mrs. Lange said and the club should be very proud. Mrs. Pfeiffer was selected as finalist to represent this area in the Florists Trans-world Delivery, as "Designer of the Year."

In exhibits Mrs. Charles S. Walkup received first; Mrs. Herbert Seifert, second; Mrs. H. A. Hite, third and Mrs. Earl M. Johnson, fourth.

In horticulture first, second and third went to Mrs. H. E. Feuers for African violets.

Mrs. Don Anderson will be hostess for the April meeting.

Garden Club No. 4, met with Mrs. J. F. Skolaut, 1731 West Tenth, witth Mrs. J. L. Hiltenburg and Mrs C. R. Walker assisting in serving a dessert course to 19 members and one guest, Mrs. J. W. Boger.

Mrs. Skolaut, president, opened the meeting with a poem: "The Garden Club."

Mrs. Hiltenburg introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Boger, who had on display both antique and modern containers, she told about each, and the arrangements most suitable for them.

Over decorated containers, even though very pretty, she said, often take away from the beauty of the arrangement. It takes, she went on to say, imagination and artistic ability, along with the containers and flowers to make beautiful arrangements. Mrs. Boger showed several of her paintings of flower arrangements.

Mrs. Skolaut told of the invitation from the Progressive Garden Club at Marshall to share Ann Sutters outstanding film on "Gardens of the Pacific" at the Marshall Methodist Church, April 12, at 1:30 p.m.

In exhibits Mrs. Ralph McCowan received first and second on design in antique containers and in horticulture Mrs. Skolaut received first on her flowering quince and second on her begonia. She received honorable mention on an arrangement of jonquils in container.

The April meeting will be held on the third Friday with Mrs. L. C. Judd, 600 South Carr.

Garden Club No. 5, met at the home of Mrs. R. S. Haggard, 1319 West 16th, with Mrs. G. E. Makin as assistant hostess.

A dessert course carrying out the St. Patrick's theme was served to 15 members and two guests.

Mrs. Clay Tyler, president, presided at the business meeting.

Mrs. Marshall Parsons gave the program and had on display some lovely antique containers as well as modern types and suggested the kind of flowers for each kind which would be the most effective.

Awards were given as follows: in arrangements, Mrs. C. D. Rhoads, first; Mrs. James Barnes, second and Mrs. P. L. Strole, third; in horticulture, Mrs. Marshall Parsons, first; Mrs. Fred Wertz, second and Mrs. R. S. Haggard, third.

Mrs. Cloyce Wilson and Mrs. Jack Alfry were guests of the club.

Garden Club No. 6 met at the home of Mrs. William Sims with Mrs. Harry Bolch assisting hostess. A dessert luncheon was served to 17 members.

Mrs. Roy Brown, president, opened the business meeting with a reading "Month of March."

Mrs. Herman Taylor, exchange chairman, announced the plant and bake sale.

Mrs. Wilson Harbit was presented a gift for having the most points in exhibits and horticulture for 1965.

Mrs. James Harvey gave the program, "Old and New Favorites."

In exhibits Mrs. Harbit won first in arrangements and in horticulture Mrs. William Schwermer was first, Mrs. Harbit, second and Mrs. James Harvey, third.

The next meeting will be April 6, at the home of Mrs. W. A. Harbaugh.

Garden Club No. 7 met at Flat Creek Inn with Mrs. Ray Dirck and Mrs. G. O. Hawley hostesses. Dessert was served to 19 members.

Poems, "God Revealed in Nature" and "Pray" were used in the devotional given by Mrs. J. H. Gwinn.

Mrs. R. R. Conn, president, presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Gwinn announced the following award winners, antique containers, Mrs. Conn, first, Mrs. Fred Schwenk, second and Mrs. Joe Wilson, third; modern containers, Mrs. E. J. Thomas, first, Mrs. Robert Newman, second and Mrs. John Mallet, third.

Mrs. Mabel Chambers announced the bake and plant sale.

Mrs. Arthur Barker introduced Mrs. Mary Hall, who spoke on the topic of the month.

Garden Club No. 8, met at the home of Mrs. Terry Pile, 211 South Stewart. Mrs. Lawrence Mehl was a guest.

Mrs. George Dryden, president, presided over the business session which was preceded by a social hour at which time Mrs. Pile served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Mehl.

Mrs. Ernest Martin gave highlights of the coming flower show.

Mrs. Melvin Marriott, Junior Garden Club chairman, told of the progress being made by that group which now has 17 members. At the present time they are making designs for the Library.

Mrs. Dryden announced the invitation from the University Woman's Club to attend the dinner meeting and program on March 21, at 6:30 p.m. and the District Flower School at Warrensburg on June 8 and 9, with examinations on June 10.

Mrs. R. O. Smith introduced Mrs. Gilbert Herrman who gave the program. Mrs. Herrman said scientists in modern times have examined burial mounds and ruins of ancient Greece, Egypt, Rome and other countries, and in the tombs of kings of Egypt have found jewels, pottery and other antiques which tell much about the life of those ancient people.

Such antiques, she went on to say, may now be seen in museums and art galleries. Collectors are interested in many types of antiques, such as old coins, rare books, dishes and even old locomotives. But most people think of antiques as articles of household use, such as furniture, glass, china, silver and textiles. Not all antiques in American collection, she said, were made in this country, collectors have bought Chinese porcelains, Bohemian glass, Persian rugs and Russian brasses.

Mrs. Earl Wheeler was reinstated as a member and Mrs. Roy Lawson became a new member.

In awards Mrs. Melvin Marriott received first, and Mrs. Earl Thomas second, in horticultur and Mrs. Terry Pile, first, Mrs. Marriott, second, Mrs. Gordon Voight, third and Mrs. Earl Thomas, fourth in arrangements.

Rho Tau's Hear Advantages Of Junior College

Mrs. Carolyn Miller, representing Jaycee Wives, discussed the proposed area Junior College for Rho Tau Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, at the Old Missouri Homestead, March 16.

Mrs. Miller explained voters do not need to be registered in order to vote April 5 on the proposal. She also stated students attending the junior college would be able to transfer credits to other higher education institutions.

A candlelight pledge ceremony was conducted for Mrs. Betty Hall by Mrs. Nyra Price, Missouri State Council president.

Mrs. Evelyn Templeton was hostess. Guests were Mrs. Joe Hanrahan, Mrs. Elmer Van Dyke and Mrs. James Edwards.

Middle Aged Cat Resents Youth Enjoyed By Others

NEW YORK (AP)—Middle age must be hard on cats, too.

This theory is based on the increasingly erratic behavior of our cat, Lady Dottie.

In kittenhood and early youth her deportment was model. She was dainty, playful, affectionate and so intelligent that I was considering trying to get her into Harvard—on an athletic scholarship.

She learned early to use her box in my bathroom. She let the children on our apartment floor lug her around as if she were a doll. She rarely scratched them, even when they tweaked her tail.

Lady Dottie went through infancy, adolescence and early adulthood without suffering any really noticeable personality change.

But now that she is on the threshold of middle age and her whiskers are turning grayer, something seems to have come over her. Not being a cat psychiatrist, I can see it only as a kind of rebellion against life—so often seen in middle-aged human beings.

Lady Dottie looks long at herself in the mirror, shakes her head grimly, and stalks away.

She is full of whims and melancholy, as moody and unpredictable as March weather.

Having lost her own youth, she seems to resent youth in others. If any of the kids try to hug her, she growls like a tiger, and they drop her quickly.

She has a preference for older people. She seems to have adopted me lately. She likes to sleep at the foot of my bed. In the morning she follows me into the bathroom, rubs against my legs, and gravely watches me shave.

"I do believe Lady Dottie has got a crush on you," said my wife, Frances.

Lady Dottie quixotically seeks and evades attention.

Like many aging people, she has become finicky about her meals. If at night we give her canned fish instead of freshly warmed beef kidney, she takes a subtle revenge. After we are asleep, she goes into the living room and throws up the canned fish squarely in the middle of the rug.

She isn't allergic to it. She is just determined to have her own way—in this as in everything.

The other day I was complaining that Lady Dottie was becoming simply too temperamental to put up with. Frances heard me out, gave a wifely smile and replied:

"Oh, dry up, Rover. You used to be middle-aged yourself once, and you acted twice as bad."

Used to be? Now, what could she have meant by that?

Almost

Authority Broadened

Justices Again Decide Censorship Has Its Place

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nine justices of the Supreme Court have fought their way again through the legal thicket of obscenity and decided, once again, that censorship has a place in American life.

If anything, the censor's authority has been broadened. Now, under three decisions announced Monday, judges and juries have a green light from the high court to weigh publishers' motives.

If from examining their publications and advertisements they conclude the publisher was engaged in "the sordid business of pandering," his publication can legally be banned as obscene.

Fourteen separate opinions by the nine justices give ample evidence of division within the court. And the key ruling, upholding the federal conviction of Eros magazine Publisher Ralph Ginzburg, was a 5-4 cliffhanger.

But the court's action is as binding as if it were unanimous. And while there is room for differences in interpretation, it is crystal clear that the justices have added another dimension — motives — to their 1957 obscenity standard.

The court took on the Ginzburg case and the two others — a Massachusetts court-ordered ban on the book "Fanny Hill" and the New York conviction of book dealer Edward Mishkin — amid considerable confusion about what the old standard was.

Even Monday the justices were still divided on the point.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. said the old test set up three conditions for banning a publication as obscene: 1. The dominant theme of the material taken as a whole appealed to a "prurient interest in sex." 2. The material was patently offensive because it "affronts contemporary community standards relating to the description or representation of sexual matters." 3. The material is utterly without redeeming social value.

This appeared to shock Justice Tom C. Clark, who said the court had never suggested there be a "social-value" test, let alone expound one.

And Justice William O. Douglas asked "redeeming to whom?"

But no one disagreed that a new test, "commercial exploitation of erotica solely for the sake of their prurient appeal," was being set up.

Not only did this lead to upholding the conviction of Ginzburg for mailing Eros and two other publications, but Mishkin's conviction under a New York law for "hiring others to prepare obscene books, publishing obscene books and possessing obscene books with intent to sell them" was upheld without reference to use of the mails.

Critics of the old standard had claimed it was so unclear that books would rise or fall on varying interpretations of "prurient interest" and "community standards."

Free-speech advocates are apt to share Justice Hugo L. Black's view that the court is leaving "the fate of a person charged with violating censorship statutes to the unbridled discretion, whim and caprice of the judge or jury which tries him."

In New York, Ginzburg called Monday's decision "a throwback to the Dark Ages" and added, "I am confident that history will vindicate me and eventually America will stop branding its artists, writers and publishers as criminals."

There was no immediate comment from Mishkin.

Big Changes Pressures Inflation

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Second thoughts on inflation are taking shape in the securities and money markets as the administration pushes hard its drive to control prices and wages by persuasion.

Bond prices have rallied, however temporarily. This could indicate that current yields and interest rates are considered about as high as the economic outlook justifies just now.

And government officials are urging banks and other lenders to turn more to avoiding marginal loans than to hiking interest rates as a curb on the inflation which many had seen either here or on the way.

Stock prices have rallied a bit, too. Some traders believe that yields—that is, the relation of dividend payments to market price of stocks—are getting into a more realistic range.

At the other end of the scale, production of needed materials such as steel is rising. This is reassuring some businessmen that industry can and will produce the goods to avoid the classic inflation of too many dollars chasing too few goods.

The administration apparently has scored another victory in its drive to hold down or turn back price rises. This time it's the matter of cigarette prices. One agency of the government may be warning of smoking hazards but other agencies are more concerned with holding down the cost of living for smokers.

So smokes have joined copper and aluminum, and to some extent steel, in the ranks of materials whose prices the White House can influence.

It's in the field of financing the economic expansion and of stimulating production of industrial materials or of battling shortages, that the government has been moving.

Marriage Brings Some Reflected

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Yep, nothing changes a girl like marriage.

She seems so sweet, simple and direct when a fellow is courting her. But after they agree to test the theory that two can live as cheaply as one, a great change comes over her.

Her moods vary swiftly. It is as if he were living with a stranger in the house, a stranger with a different personality and a whole new set of values.

For example:

She used to hang on every word he said. Now she uses every word he utters in order to try to hang him.

Before marriage she looked like she had been poured into her clothes. After marriage, if he didn't tug and pull and zip, she'd never be able to get dressed.

There was a time when she thought he looked dashing in a bow tie. Now, if he dons one, she remarks witheringly, "Who do you think you are—Joe College?"

It was easy in the old days for him to put his hands around her waist and lift her lightly over an old stone wall. Later, using both arms, he could barely budge her off her high heels.

They used to atch fireflies together on summer nights. What do they catch now together on winter days? Only the common cold.

Once she complimented him on how broad his shoulders were. Today all she can see is the dandruff on them.

In the dim past she could stay up alf the night listening to him tell about his dreams and ambitions. Now she routs him out of bed at dawn and says, "You'd better get to work early today or they'll probably fire you—not that I'd blame them."

When he used to take her out, all she wanted was a small hamburger. When he takes her out now, she makes the restaurant waiter bring her a second big expensive steak if the first one doesn't suit her.

Formerly, they laughed and ran up the hills together. But presently, they quarrel about the bills she runs up separately.

Before the ceremony she promised, "Our marriage won't turn out just like 90 per cent of marriages do." After the ceremony, he found out how right she was.

It turned out to be just like 99 per cent of other marriages.

But nature apparently meant for man to be turned by the girl of his dreams into the prisoner of her schemes. That's living.

Isolated Slowdowns Add To Economic Confusion

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Some isolated slowdowns in the economy's forward rush are adding to the confusion over what to do about inflation.

Most of the signs still point uphill for the business boom now rounding out its 61st month. But a few of those that often indicate what the future has in store are lagging or turning down.

And this hesitancy, along with the chance that more may be in the making, sustains those who argue that this isn't the time to clamp on the brakes.

Orders for durable goods have taken a surprising drop. Whether this is temporary is yet to be seen.

Housing starts also have fallen off more than expected. The building industry is now watching to see if spring weather will revive their business.

Factory managers say they expect to add to their inventories in a cautious manner after the big rush to build up stocks that helped beat up the economy in the closing weeks of 1965.

A profit squeeze is feared in some industries. They cite rising production costs, much smaller gains in output per man hour of labor, and the government's frowns on raising prices to meet these growing costs—and thus keep them from pushing today's record profits still higher.

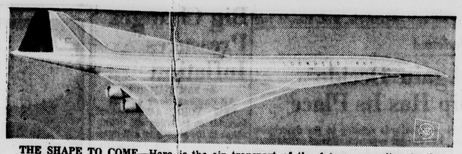
The high cost of borrowing may cool the expansion boom in coming months, some bankers say, although admitting that the demand for loans is still high.

The speculative fever in the stock market has been pretty well chilled in the last five weeks. And the effect on public psychology of an average drop of 7 per cent in stock prices—with some industry groups down as much as 17 per cent—is yet to be measured. Some business economists think that a generally more cautious attitude is taking shape, especially in business circles.

The goal still is for more expansion, higher incomes, more spending, more jobs, and still fatter figures when figuring the nation's total income and production.

The five-year boom has carried the economy to record heights. Some have felt the economy had reached dizzy heights. The administration has denied this.

And if signs of a slowdown or a more cautious forward pace multiply in the months ahead, the administration may keep its foot off the brakes and forego a tax increase.



THE SHAPE TO COME—Here is the air transport of the future, according to the Lockheed-California Co. which has this proposed supersonic plane, the L-2000-7, on the drawing boards. Sheathed in titanium, it is designed to carry up to 226 passengers and cruise at 1,800 m.p.h. at altitudes of 60,000 to 70,000 feet.

Korean Troops Help With Huge Effort In Viet Nam

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The 22,000 Koreans in Viet Nam are helping to win the war by spending as much time helping the Vietnamese as they do shooting Viet Cong.

The bulk of the Korean outfit are tough army regulars and seasoned marines who are the largest foreign fighting force in Viet Nam after the Americans.

Backing them up are the "dove units" — construction gangs building roads and schools and medical teams giving aid to civilians as well as soldiers.

Stationed at Qui Nhon, a central Viet Nam port on the South China Sea, is South Korea's famed Tiger Division which has chalked up a notable battle record since it landed here last fall.

"We have trained for the weather and the climate of Viet Nam and we have learned the Viet Cong tactics," said Maj. Gen. Myung Shin-chae, commander of Korean forces in Viet Nam.

Capt. Kwon Joon-taek, a member of the Tiger Division, said his men were especially trained in night fighting, at which the Communist have long excelled.

"The Viet Cong are good, but we are better," he said.

The Korean marines are stationed at Tuy Hoa, a sandy windswept wasteland in south central Viet Nam not far from Viet Cong territory.

"When we go into battle, we have the advantage of tough training and the highest morale," said Lt. Chung Jae-won of the marines' Blue Dragon outfit.

At Di An, 10 miles northeast of Saigon, are the self-styled "doves", a 2,500-man construction outfit that has been repairing roads and bridges, setting up medical dispensaries and playgrounds and carrying out other projects to show the Vietnamese that Allied troops are their friends.

"The most important part of our civil aid program is the treatment of the people themselves," said Brig. Gen. Cho Moon-whan, who set up the Korean installation at Di An.

"Touching an infant, giving candy to a young boy, showing respect for the aged — these things mean more than a million dollars in a foreign aid program."

When the Vietnamese first ventured into the Koreans' medical clinics, many were distrustful and unfriendly.

"Now, however, we have gained their friendship and trust," Cho said.

The third phase of the Korean mission in Viet Nam is at Vung Tau, about 50 miles south of Saigon, where a hospital has been set up in a rambling French colonial building.

"We feel that medicine is better than bullets to win over the Vietnamese people," said Col. Song Ik-hoon, commander of the 1st Korean Mobile Army Surgino boundary."

'Sonny' Is Unable To See Mother

By JIM KLOBUCHAR
Minneapolis Star

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Kenny Rieken's eyes were open, fluttering unevenly as though bothered by the light.

He lay on a white bed in the Samaritan Nursing Home, his head turned toward his mother. He could not feel her hand on his cheek, nor hear her voice asking, "What's the matter, Sonny?" Nor see her tears.

She has no hope that he will talk to her again, nor even be aware he is still alive.

More than nine years ago a car in which Kenneth Rieken and a teen-age friend were riding smashed down an embankment, hit a parked tractor and utility pole and rolled over.

The friend, though critically hurt, recovered.

Kenneth has never regained his senses. In the nursing home where he has aged to manhood he is given nourishment through a feeding tube every three hours. He was in a Rochester hospital for two years.

He is 27 now, an age at which he had once hoped to be coaching a high school football or basketball team. Because his heart is still strong, he may live for years more. But doctors say he will never recover consciousness. Damage to the brain spinal and nerve systems was permanent. He has only occasional muscle spasms now.

He had been captain of the Grand Meadow, Minn., High School football and basketball teams. He worked in spare hours at various jobs to help the family.

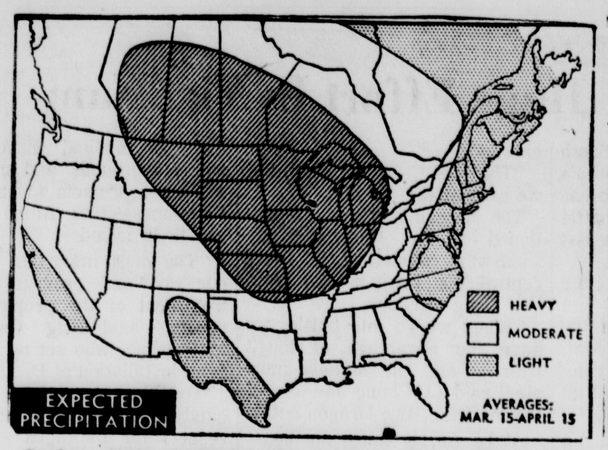
His 47-year-old, brown-haired mother lost her husband, William Rieken, to leukemia and a heart attack a year ago. She was left with her daughters Debra, 10; Sharon, 16, and Kenny, A third daughter, Judith, 19, is married.

The $45,000 insurance payment which the family received for Kenneth is gone. The family lived on Social Security and Mrs. Rieken's wages from a Rochester manufacturing plant. She has not worked since February.

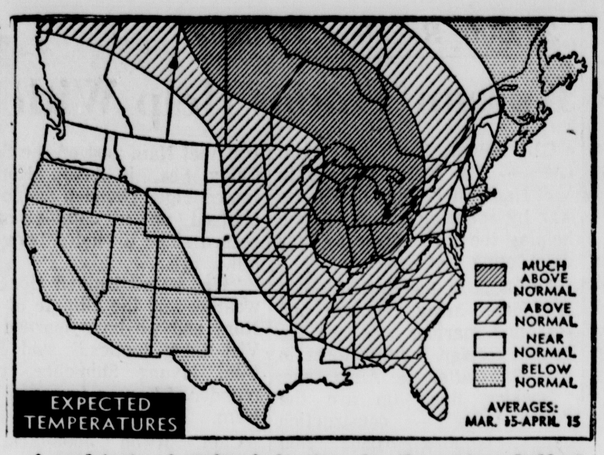
"Sometimes I dread going to see sonny," she said. "It tortures me to see him that way. Sometimes I think whether it wouldn't be better if he stopped living. But I could never want that. Just to be able to touch him is enough for me."

Australian Holiday

Australia celebrates as a national hiliday the Battle of the Coral Sea, in which an American task force defeated a Japanese fleet headed for Australia, thereby ending the danger of invasion.



Spring starts soggy for the northern Great Plains and western Great Lakes. Normal conditions will prevail elsewhere except for scattered dry patches.



A real taste of spring is in store for the eastern half of the nation with higher than normal temperatures. But winter will be lingering awhile longer in the Southwest.

Grissom Prepared For His Third Journey Into Space

By RONALD THOMPSON
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—One of the United States' original astronauts, Virgil I. Grissom, almost drowned in 1961 when his Mercury capsule sank after he became the second American to rocket into space.

About four years later, he took his second space ride — the first man to do so — as command pilot on the maiden mission of the two-man Gemini program.

Now, he is back again, to launch another project. The short, crewcut Air Force lieutenant colonel will be commander aboard the nation's first three-man spaceship, an Apollo craft like one designed to carry men to the moon.

Grissom, Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Roger B. Chaffee were named Monday to take an Apollo spacecraft on a shakedown cruise of up to 14 days in earth orbit.

The flight will be the first of at least four manned Apollo flights planned before the United States attempts to shoot three men to the moon before 1970, perhaps by late 1968.

The space triplets are officially slated to take the first flight in early 1967, but if all goes well in training and spacecraft preparation for the mission, it could be launched as early as November.

Their mission might be sort of a ringing out the old, and ringing in the new in the staging a space rendezvous between the Apollo ship and the last two-man Gemini spacecraft, currently Gemini 12.

Such a rendezvous, Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said Monday "would have many purposes. It's always nice to have someone take a look at you (in space)."

Gemini would be taking an orbiting glance at Apollo, a possibility Apollo officials would like to see come about. Dr. Joseph Shea, Apollo program manager, said "a study is going on but it's too early to say (if the rendezvous would be attempted). The purpose of the mission is to exercise the spacecraft and the crew."

A crew has not been named for Gemini 12. However, while announcing the three-man team, Gilruth also released names of the prime crew for Gemini 11, a two-or-three-day mission to include a rendezvous, a link-up in space and a space walk.

Command pilot on Gemini 11 will be Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., veteran pilot of the eight-day flight of Gemini 5, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr., who has not taken a flight. The two served as backup crewmen on Gemini 8.

Gilruth lauded Grissom when announcing his selection.

"Gus Grissom made the second Mercury flight back in 1961 and was the first of the astronauts to make two space flights," he said. "He was command pilot on GT-3 (Gemini 3) and now will be commander of the first Apollo mission. It is always good to have cool heads in this business."

Grissom, 39, proved himself a cool-headed astronaut when his Liberty Bell 7 spacecraft blew its hatch prematurely while he awaited recovery in the Atlantic after a 15-minute suborbital trip. He quickly squeezed from his sinking craft and had to swim for his life before a helicopter plucked him from the water several minutes later.

To the possibility of taking three space flights, Grissom said: "I'm very pleased. I'm just now getting into Apollo — trying to forget everything I knew about Gemini. It is a good crew for a good flight."

Shea chimed in with a smile: "It finally is a pleasure to get some men assigned to Apollo. We will rely extremely heavily on Mercury and Gemini experience and, Gus, I don't want anyone to forget those experiences."

"Ed White became a pretty famous man in the past year," said Gilruth in going over the list of crewmen.

That he did. White took a breathtaking 21-minute space walk — America's first — outside Gemini 4 while he and Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt orbited the earth for four days.

Chaffee, only 28 when he became an astronaut with the third group named in 1963 and now 31, has never taken a space flight. Since joining the space team he has concentrated mainly on the Apollo program, specializing in communications and deep space instrumentation.

NEW YORK (AP) — There stood Earl Louis Mountbatten, former admiral of the fleet and and chief of combined operations of British commandoes, surrounded by 550 former spies, saboteurs and secret agents. Then they all sat down to eat.

It was the annual dinner of the Veterans of the Office of Strategic Services at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Monday night.

Lord Mountbatten was presented the William J. Donovan award, named for the man who started the OSS during World War II.

It was through Lord Mountbatten, the awards committee said, that British intelligence, secret agents and training schools were made available to Americans.

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Shouts of "Welcome Queen Mum — we like you" greeted Queen Elizabeth, the British mother, as thousands cheered her arrival at the Adelaide airport today.

She is on a six-day visit to the Festival of Arts being held in Adelaide.

Australian governor General Lord Casey and Lady Casey officially welcomed the queen mother.

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—It was a little different kind of rendezvous Monday for astronauts Neil Armstrong and David Scot5. The Gemini 8 pilots held a happy reunion with their families.

Their wives and children were at Ellington Air Force Base, near Manned Spacecraft Center, to greet them after their flight from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

"We had an exciting ride and accomplished a lot of things," Armstrong told a small gathering. "We only wished we could have done a few more."

Each man had a few moments at home and then returned to the space center, where they will detail to fellow astronauts the story of their troubled flight.

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R. I. (AP)—Chaplain Thomas David Parnham Jr. has been promoted to captain, making him the highest-ranking Negro in the Navy.

He was promoted to captain —the equivalent of colonel in the Army—on his 46th birthday Monday at the Quonset Point Naval Air Station at North Kingstown.

Capt. Parnham, a native of Newport News, Va., said that being a Southerner and a Negro has helped him when coming into contact with sailors from the South. "I have a Southern accent," he said. "It makes them feel at home. It makes me understand them easily and they understand me."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. ambassador to the Dominican Republic is being transferred to Portugal.

W. Tapley Bennett, whose tenure in the Dominican Republic spanned the worst of that country's riotous internal trouble will replace George W. Anderson Jr. as ambassador to Portugal.. G. W. Anderson, former chief of naval operations, is resigning after about two years as a diplomat.

Bennett, 49, took the Dominican post in March 1964. The minister of the Santo Domingo embassy, John Hugh Crimmins, will serve as charge d' affairs there for the time being, the White House said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders appear miffed by Republican predictions of gains in next November's congressional elections.

Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Floor Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma disputed the GOP claims. Albert said, "It is a favorite Republican tactic every two years."

McCormack said House Republicans should "consult the facts. . .They have been issuing misrepresentations."

McCormack and Albert talked with newsmen after a conference with President Johnson.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders plan to bring up for debate April 13th a controversial constitutional amendment aimed at the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote state legislative reapportment ruling.

Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois is chief sponsor of the amendment to allow one branch of state legislature to be apportioned on factors other than population. A similar proposal was defeated in the Senate last year.

The Senate's Easter recess ends April 13.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — The Social Democrats will be the largest party in the new Finnish Parliament, almost complete election results showed Monday night. Extensive maneuvering to form a coalition government now is expected.

The Social Democrats won a total of 54 seats, a gain of 16. Formerly dominant Agrarian party dropped to third place. The Communists remained the second-strongest party with 47 seats, the same as before.

There has been no response from the Social Democrats so far to a Communist invitation to join in a popular front, but observers expect the new government to be at least tinged with Red.

Up to now, all parties have supported a policy of neutrality between East and West.

LONDON (AP) — Von Eyck's "St. George and the Dragon," the postcard-size painting that sold for 220,000 pounds (616,000) last Thursday, is bound for the United States.

The London art dealers P. and D. Colnaghi, who bought the painting at auction, said today they had applied to the Board of Trade for an export license but were bound by "a cloak of secrecy" not to divulge the new American owners.

However, the purchaser was believed to be a leading museum.

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)—About 100 passengers were reported missing after a motor launch caught fire and sank Sunday night in the Meghna River 12 miles from Dacca.

Another 100 persons on board were rescued.

One of the survivors said he was asleep when the fire broke out and was awakened by the screams of the passengers.

"There was a mad rush all around and people began jumping into the river," he said.

Stanley Bohon Heads Electric Class of REA

Stanley Bohon, Smithton, was elected president of Sedalia Electric Class recently at Rural Electric Administration Building.

The fifth annual Sedalia Electric Class, sponsored by REA, in conjunction with the University of Missouri, Columbia, has already held two meetings at the local REA Building, Feb. 22 and March 1. The class meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday evenings. Tentatively 14 sessions are scheduled.

Other elected officials are: David Smith, Sedalia, vice president; Gerald Evans, Knob Noster, secretary.

The class is being taught again this year by Ed Walters, an experienced electrician. Enrollment rose from 31 to 37 between the first and second meetings.

Currently enrolled in the class are: Teddy Barklage, Ted Bell, Stanley Bohon, Chuck Brown, Darrel Buso, Russell Cardwell, Billy Crawford, Jerry Curd, Ronnie Dale, Roger and Stanley Deuschle, Chuck Dotson, Ben and James Embree, Howard Estell, Gerald Evans, Monty Finley, Larry Hicks, Carl Hoehns, Charles Holland, Danny Huddleston, David Moellman, Alva Rasa, Harold Ream, Dennis and Larry Roberts, Frank Root, John Schondelmeyer, David and Terry Smith, Gerald Smith, Louis Spellmeyer, Leland Veach, Butch Vieth, Herbie Walker, Glen Wissman and Norman Wood.
